

Ford Blames Dems for Inflation Problems

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — President Ford, opening a day of heavy politicking in the Midwest, today accused "budget busting" Democratic administrations of causing the nation's current heavy inflation.

Ford also criticized congressmen who voted to cut off military aid to Turkey, saying this action, "more than any other in recent times, would have undercut this nation's 30-year-old bipartisan approach to foreign policy."

In remarks to $100-a-plate breakfast in Kansas City, Ford pleaded with party workers to "make my job easier" by electing more Republicans to Congress this November.

Ford planned stops later today in Sioux Falls, S.D., Lincoln, Neb., and Indianapolis in what is the most intensive day of campaigning since he assumed office.

He returns to Washington late tonight and will make a rare presidential appearance before a House subcommittee Thursday to answer questions about his pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon.

Turkey aid critics to fight and Ford signs Election Reform ... stories on page 3.

Ford advised the nation Tuesday night to save more and spend less and today he repeated his message to fight inflation.

The President said at the breakfast he had been advised years ago by former congressman Thomas Curtis, the GOP candidate attempting to unseat Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., that, "If our friends in the opposition party kept busting the budget, we would have an inflation that would curl our hair.

"They (the Democrats) kept busting the budget and today you see the results."

Earlier, Ford mingled with about 50 wealthy contributors who paid $1,000 apiece for the privilege of sipping coffee in a hotel suite and shaking the President's hand.

Among the guests were James S. McDonnell, chairman, McDonnell Douglas Corp.; John Hanley, president, Monsanto Chemical, and Hadley Griffin, president, Brown Shoe Corp.

In his breakfast speech to about 300 Republicans, Ford conceded that the November congressional and statehouse races "will be a tough election and some people say that the odds are against our candidates this year."

But slicing into the current Democratic majority would mean "a lot less politicking in Congress and a lot more progress in meeting the pressing problems facing us at home."

Ford delayed the start of a World Series game to give Americans a fatherly lecture on how to fight inflation — save money, hunt bargains, drive more slowly, turn off lights, clean your plates, and get enough sleep.

It was a homespun speech to a homespun audience Tuesday

—a convention of the Future Farmers of America — and included the kind of advice he heard from his parents:

"Take all you want, but eat all you take, he said.

"The first words I can remember were: 'clean up your plate! When you aren't using them, turn off the lights, turn off the television, turn off the radio, turn off the heater.

"Use less hot water. Insulate attics and windows. Shut doors. Keep rooms at 68 degrees in the wintertime when you're awake and at lower temperatures when you sleep."

Other major points: "Balance your family budget" ... "Use credit wisely" ... "Save as much as you can" ... "Conserve energy" ... "Keep wages and prices low" ... "Increase productivity" ... "Shop wisely, look for bargains" ... "Do it yourself" ... "Help with recycling programs" ... "Guard your health."

Protesting Farmers Slaughter Calves

By United Press International

Angry Wisconsin farmers drove their trucks to a huge trench at Curtiss, Wis., Tuesday, unloaded their calves, then shot the young animals or slit their throats to protest skyrocketing feed costs and low livestock prices.

The carcasses of more than 650 calves and 15 pigs were left to rot in the trench.

A spokesman for the Wisconsin chapter of the National Farmers Organization said the group had considered making the meat available to packing houses as donations for the poor, but the packing houses said they did not have time to handle it.

In a similar action conducted near Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., 18 calves were slaughtered.

The actions came just hours before President Ford, in an address to the Future Farmers of America at Kansas City, reiterated his call for increased farm production and reduced waste to combat inflation.

While farmers and ranchers elsewhere — notably in Texas and Oklahoma — have threatened similar mass cattle slaughters in symbolic retaliation for declining cattle prices, the Wisconsin stockmen were the first to act.

One by one, they drove trucks up to the trench. Some shot the calves, which ranged in age from two days to two weeks, in the head. Others slit the animals' throats, butcher style.

Some 300 farmers, newsmen and other onlookers watched the slaughter.

Cattlemen at Gans, Okla., voted to slaughter their livestock if "all other solutions fail." They said they would also send a load of cattle to the White House to dramatize their plight.

Another group of Oklahoma ranchers called a temporary halt to a planned cattle slaughter and decided to take their case to Washington instead.

Oren Lee Staley, president of the NFO, said at the groups' national headquarters in Corning, Iowa, that the action at Curtiss was a voluntary protest. "It's up to individual members what they want to do," he said. "It will cut their production and if they want to do this to demonstrate that farmers are taking serious losses, we think it is within their right to do so."

The kill at Curtiss exceeded the expectations of Steve Pavich, president of the NFO's Wisconsin branch. He had predicted as the slaughter started that more than 500 animals might be sacrificed by nightfall.

Pavich was asked if it would not be better to make the slaughtered animals available to packers for donation to the poor.

"Sure, that would be better," he said, "but we talked to two different packers and they told us they didn't have time to handle them. This is the next best thing."

Law enforcement officials said apparently no laws were violated.

The Humane Society of the United States protested "the needless killing of calves for publicity purposes as well as the resulting waste of protein in a world where starvation is rampant."

A spokesman for the cattlemen's group estimated that growers lose $50 to $100 a head on beef cattle and about $25 each on hogs.

Firewood... A Good Way to Beat Fuel Costs

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

It costs a lot more to heat a home these days, and the importance of a home's fireplace as a money saver rather than just decoration has become apparent to many.

Fireplaces, to state the obvious, need wood. One good place to get firewood, if you have a strong back, a good chainsaw, and a vehicle with plenty of load capacity, is from the state forest lands managed by the State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC).

Last year, according to a press release from DEC Commissioner James L. Biggane, more than 10,000 cords of firewood were harvested from state forest lands, and the program is to be continued this fall and winter.

The State of New York has plenty of land in Ulster County, and forested land at that, but it is in the State Forest Preserve, and is to remain "forever wild." That means no cutting of trees by fireplace owners.

The DEC's Region 3, which has its headquarters in New Paltz, does have some "multiple use" lands in Sullivan County, at Wolf Lake, off Route 17, and at Hitchcock Brook, near Eldred. According to Bruce Burton, senior forester at the Region 3 headquarters, only about 31 cords of wood were sold from those sites last year. He said both areas have poor access, with a truck much the preferred vehicle over a passenger car.

Special

On the other side of the Hudson, however, on state lands watched over by Region 3's Millbrook office, the response has been considerably greater.

Fred Gerty, forester in that office, said about 250 cords of wood had been sold last year, and about 45 so far this year. "We've done quite a lot of business with the public," he said.

Ulster County residents who want to cut fireplace wood would probably be most interested in the state lands in Pine Plains in Dutchess County. The DEC is managing about 500 acres there in two sites, Carty said, one site just off the Taconic Parkway, and the other in the Town of Pine Plains.

The state also has the Taconic-Herford State Forest of about 1,000 acres farther south in Dutchess County, about 250 acres in southern Dutchess, and some 2,000 acres in Putnam County, all participating acreage in the firewood program. Gerty said the land in Putnam County, in the Nesham Hill State Forest, had provided firewood for people from New York City, Long Island, and Westchester County, as well as local residents.

Firewood from state land is far below commercial rates in cost. Burton said it was $5 a cord, plus a four per cent sales tax, plus $1.72 for insurance for the state. The insurance fee is for each sale, and remains the same "for one cord, or a hundred," said Burton.

However, when the fireplace owner pays his $5 a cord, he gets the trees to be cut down marked for him, he is told where they are, and that's it.

From then on, according to Burton, "It's their saws, and their sweat." That can be a lot of sweat, indeed. A standard cord of wood, which is the least you can buy from the state, measures four feet high, four feet deep, and eight feet long. It will weigh about 5000 pounds. It will certainly not, said Burton, fit into the back of a station wagon.

"I see a lot of half-cut sales," Burton said.

Dean Tells of 'Mugging Squads'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John W. Dean III testified in the Watergate cover-up trial today that a campaign plan for mugging, kidnapping and prostitution was discussed in the office of then Attorney General John N. Mitchell five months before the 1972 Watergate burglary.

"I looked over at Mitchell and he winked at me," Dean said, beginning what was expected to be lengthy testimony against Mitchell and four other former aides of Richard M. Nixon.

"Mitchell sat silent for a moment, puffed on his pipe and said, 'This wasn't exactly what I had in mind,' and suggested the plan be somewhat tailored down."

Dean said the $1 million plan was presented at a meeting Jan. 27, 1972, by G. Gordon Liddy, then general counsel for Nixon's re-election finance committee and later convicted of conspiracy in the original Watergate trial. Mitchell later managed the re-election campaign.

Dean said the plan included "mugging squads" capable of roughing up anti-Nixon demonstration leaders; "kidnaping squads" which, for instance, could remove the leaders of demonstrations at the Republican National Convention and take them to Mexico, and prostitutes who would be used to compromise Democrats at their convention in Miami Beach.

Dean testified he later talked to then White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, also one of the defendants.

Dean, then a White House counsel, said he told Haldeman, "Bob, I've attended these meetings over in Mitchell's office ... I don't want to have anything to do with it and I don't think the White House should have anything to do with it."

He quoted Haldeman as saying, "John, you shouldn't and don't have anything to do with it."

Dean, who was Nixon's chief accuser at the Senate Watergate Committee, drew a large crowd of spectators as he began retelling under oath the story of the alleged cover-up.

Earlier, Mitchell denounced his aide Jeb Stuart Magruder as "a damned liar" for alerting a Nixon campaign lawyer in July, 1972, to Mitchell's involvement in Watergate, a defense lawyer claimed today.

Attorney Jacob A. Stein, counsel for former campaign lawyer Kenneth W. Parkinson, told the jury in the Watergate pay for a medical examination cover-up trial that Parkinson if he decided to order one, believed Mitchell's claims of edly asked if the Nixon innocence and shredded the campaign was involved in the Magruder briefed him on Watergate bugging and was told repeatedly by co-defendant Robert C. Mardian that it was plot.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica indicated that he is considering sending three co-defendants to California to examine the deputy campaign director, Nixon to see if he really is too who told him that Mitchell—the former attorney general and ill to testify in the case.

Sirica has asked lawyers for Nixon's campaign manager the five defendants—all of them who was also a defendant in the former Nixon associates—"to cover-up" was "involved in this burglary."

Rocky: 'Reopen Hearings'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller has asked the Senate Rules Committee to reopen hearings so he can explain two subjects that threaten his vice presidential nomination.

A similar request to Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., of the House Judiciary Committee was turned down Tuesday. Senate Rules Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said he would decide today if hearings would reopen this week.

Rodino rejected Rockefeller's request, saying hearings could not be opened until the committee completes its "thorough investigation" of the nominee.

He said the House subcommittee report on Rockefeller would not be complete until Oct. 30.

Rockefeller completed his was "being tried in the press" because of disclosures he gave $2 million in gifts and loans to close associates and that his brother Laurance financed a book derogatory to Arthur Goldberg, the Democratic candidate for governor of New York in 1970.

Neither of the two committees was scheduled to hold hearings until after election day.

The four Republican members of the Senate panel earlier had urged Cannon to hold hearings, but the recess-bound Congress had problems fitting it into its schedule.

"My nomination is being tried in the press and not before the appropriate committee of Congress," Rockefeller said. He said he had been denied the "opportunity to present all the facts."

"This is being done on the basis of selective leaks from my income tax returns and gift tax returns, all of which were submitted to the committees in confidence."

Rockefeller got a boost from President Ford, who said he had complete confidence in his nominee, although he called the book incident "regrettable."

Some committee members also want to call the persons who received the Rockefeller gifts, and Laurence Rockefeller and others involved in the anti-Goldberg book.

Byrd said the book incident reminded him of the "dirty tricks" of the Watergate scandal. He said Senate action on the Rockefeller nomination might be delayed until next year.

Many of the gifts were originally loans Rockefeller made to aides, and forgave when they left public service.

Sheriff Faces Panel

NEW YORK

Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin, County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago, Legislature

Sheriff's Committee chairman Clifford W. Snyder and County budget officer Edward W. Snyder were slated to appear at a special meeting of the New York State Commission of Correction today in New York City.

The sheriff and county officials were requested to appear at the meeting following receipt by the Commission of a report on a lengthy probe of the Ulster County Jail conducted by the Commission investigative unit.

Detailed information concerning that probe, which reportedly covered the administration of the jail and previous Commission recommendations, has not been released, and it is not known what action would be taken at today's meeting.

EYED FOR NIXON RECORDS — The Washington Post reported Tuesday that the Nixon administration pressured the General Services Administration to trade this $27 million property for a huge, unused building so the former president could keep his records near his home in San Clemente, Calif. The building is located in Laguna Niguel which is 10 miles from the Nixon estate. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Staff Cuts and a Deficit

$ Shortage for Wilson, Carey

NEW YORK (AP) — The gubernatorial campaigns of both Republican Gov. Malcolm Wilson and Democratic Rep. Hugh L. Carey are beset by shortages of funds that are forcing Wilson to cut back his staff and that are driving Carey into a deficit.

In accordance with state law, the two candidates filed a statement that covered the finances of their campaigns during the two-week period that ended Oct. 7.

Wilson's aides said he originally anticipated spending about $1.4 million for television commercial time, but now only about $800,000 would be spent. Meanwhile, about 30 jobs on the current campaign staff of 160 would be eliminated and plans for four new storefront headquarters would be scrapped.

The single largest contributor to the Wilson campaign has been former Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. The vice president-designate donated $34,000 to his former lieutenant governor, according to Wilson's figures.

The GOP state committee gave $250,000, bringing its overall total to $925,000. Wilson's campaign has collected and spent about $1.6 million since the Sept. 10 primary, with $611,000 going to Marchbanks, Inc., the firm handling Wilson's television advertisements.

Carey, who conducted a campaign during the primary, collected $143,181 and spent $243,634 during the two-week period.

About $600,000 was the amount Carey's aides expected him to spend on his entire television campaigning since the primary.

Breast Cancer Detection Hailed by Society Head

NEW YORK (AP) — A system for very early detection of breast cancer shows promise of saving women's lives, says Dr. Justin J. Stein, who is cured of a cancer that struck him 30 years ago.

Dr. Stein, president of the American Cancer Society, told its annual meeting today that there "is much to be hopeful for" from research against various forms of cancer.

Telling of experiences so far in 27 new breast cancer detection programs, Dr. Stein said that one located in Atlanta had so far found 11 breast cancers, of which only one had spread to regional lymph nodes.

He said that by contrast, such a spread has already occurred in 50 to 60 per cent of breast cancers which women find themselves. And "women today discover the presence of their own breast cancers about 95 per cent of the time," and hence have been the earliest detectors.

Breast cancers are highly curable when they are small and non-invasive, Dr. Stein said. But when women do find their own cancers, they are usually over one inch in diameter.

In 1945, he had reticulum cell sarcoma, a form of cancer that can fatally invade the lymph system. He was given one year to live, but was cured by surgery and radiation. Dr. Stein is professor of radiology at the University of California at Los Angeles School of Medicine.

The Breast Cancer Detection Demonstration Projects program was set up jointly by the Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute to "test new methods for the earlier diagnosis of breast cancer," he explained.

While the Atlanta experience is extremely limited to date, it shows "the time to diagnose breast cancer is while they are still small, or not even palpable, and before the patient has any symptoms," he said.

Critics Pledge to Push Fight on Turkey Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Critics of continued U.S. military aid to Turkey pledged today to continue their fight despite the failure of the House to override President Ford's veto of a measure that would have put an immediate halt to it.

The House Tuesday failed by 16 votes to override the veto in the aid cutoff, and which Ford considered a redrafted resolution.

President Signs Campaign Reform

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford says that he put aside reservations about public financing and unspecified constitutional violations to sign a sweeping campaign reform bill designed to end big money influence in politics.

Ford never mentioned Watergate Tuesday as he signed the measure, scheduled to take effect in 1975. "The times demand legislation," the President said.

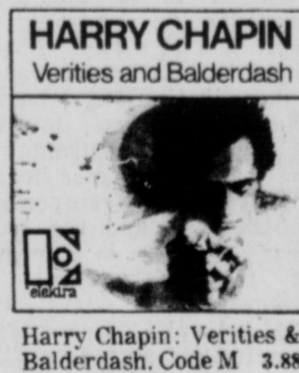

There are certain periods in our nation's history when it becomes necessary to face up to certain unpleasant truths. "The unpleasant truth is that big money influence has come to play an unseemingly role in our electoral process. This bill will help to right that wrong."

Major provisions of the bill: General election financing: Beginning in 1976, the Republican and Democratic candidates are limited to overall contributions of $25,000 in a single year and no more than $3,000 to an individual candidate — $1,000 in the primaries, $1,000 in a runoff, and $1,000 in the general election. Organizations can contribute $5,000 to a candidate in the primary, a runoff, and the two. Other party candidates can receive a share of the $20 million based on election results.

Primary financing — If a primary candidate is able to raise $100,000 — $5,000 from each of 20 states — the government will then match the first $100,000 and every private contribution of $250 up to a ceiling of $5 million.

Convention financing — The age population or $100,000 in the general election. Senate candidates are limited to $150,000 in the general election. House candidates are limited to $70,000 in the primaries and $70,000 in the general election.

Spending — Presidential candidates are limited to $20 million in the federal election and $10 million in the primaries. Senate candidates can spend 8 cents times the voting age population or $100,000 in the primaries and 12 cents or $150,000 in the general election. House candidates are limited to $70,000 in the primaries and $70,000 in the general election.

717,101 cars they delivered by Oct. 10 of last year.

Industry executives said it still was too early to tell how strongly customers are resisting the higher prices. Dealers have reported that customers, worried over higher prices and the economy, are taking a wait-and-see attitude.

Ford began a national series of ads this week seeking to convince Americans the higher prices may not be as bad as they first appear.

The average worker, Ford says, has to put in fewer hours now to buy a car than he did 10 or 20 years ago.

"It took more than five months of family income to purchase a 1954 Ford, but a equipped 1975 model can be bought for less than four and a half months pay," said John B. Naughton, Ford vice president for sales.

GM said nearly 60 per cent of its cars delivered in the period were 1975 models, with its Cadillac division scheduling capacity production to meet demand for its luxury models.

Robert D. Lund, Cadillac general manager, said the division hopes to exceed the record 34,132 cars built last October.

The industry was given a boost Tuesday when the Hertz Corp. of New York announced it plans to buy $610 million worth of cars and trucks — 132,750 vehicles — in what is believed to be the most extensive vehicle acquisition program planned by any business organization this year.

Jaworski Heads Home

Leon Jaworski deserves a rousing "Well done!" and a national vote of thanks for his able performance as Watergate special prosecutor. In departing Washington to return to the less pressurized environment of his Houston law firm, he leaves behind an outstanding record for diligence, skill and integrity in the pursuit of impartial justice.

From the public standpoint it would be preferable were Jaworski to see through to completion the task he has conducted so well thus far. His desire to resume the private practice of law must be taken into consideration, however. We find no reason not to share his confidence that, "the bulk of the work entrusted to the care of this office having been discharged . . . such of our responsibilities as remain unfulfilled can well be completed under the leadership of another special prosecutor."

Arab Oil Policies

Since the Arab oil embargo last winter, much has been heard about the importance of gaining self-sufficiency in energy for the United States. There has been little movement so far, however, toward the kind of concerted national effort that would be necessary to achieve the goal of Project Independence.

Now we are seeing that our heavy reliance on imported fuel has implications far more serious than the frustrations and inconveniences endured when the Arabs temporarily turned off their oil spigot.

President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger were not exaggerating when they used "doomsday" language to describe where the Arab oil policies are leading the world. At the international energy conference in Detroit, Mr. Ford carried to a logical conclusion a trend that has been evident in the financial news for months. The exorbitant prices the Arabs are demanding for their oil, and which their customers have no choice but to pay, are creating distortions in the economic and monetary systems that can trigger a world-wide depression.

The most intriguing aspect of Jaworski's resignation is his response to suggestions (from undisclosed sources) that he seek indictment of Richard M. Nixon to precipitate a court test of the pardon. One must respect the special prosecutor's conclusion that, since he considers President Ford's action to have been constitutional beyond question, for him to "procure an indictment . . . for the sole purpose of generating a purported court test would constitute a spurious proceeding in which I had no faith . . ."

This does not appear to rule out consideration of the matter in the courts; a private group may yet bring suit to challenge the pardon. Jaworski's statement to Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, intended to dissociate his resignation from this issue, simply means that he himself as special prosecutor would not have undertaken such action.

The irony is that oil-exporting nations could be demanding a fair price for their petroleum and still be reaping economic benefits that could assure the long-term prosperity of their people. The same is true for other nations with natural resources needed for industrial production.

The Ford-Kissinger warning also was aimed at nations which have indicated they might follow the same self-defeating path as the Arabs in trying to demand extortion-level prices for vital raw materials.

The only way, however, to impress the Arabs is a decline in demand for their oil. That can only occur when countries like the United States, their best customers, find enough petroleum elsewhere and develop the alternate energy sources that would decrease their dependency on the Arab producers.

Both the public and private segments of our economy must be prepared to make huge investments to make Project Independence a reality before the Arab oil producers are able to dominate the world's economy.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Charles Goodell, the former Republican senator who was ridden out of office by the Nixon administration because of his antiwar views, has now been tentatively chosen as the next attorney general by President Ford.

In his 1970 Senate race in New York, Goodell was denounced by Vice President Agnew as the "Christine Jorgensen" of the Republican party. An able conservative in the House, Goodell had mellowed into a liberal-moderate in the Senate.

Largely as a result of the Agnew attacks and withdrawal of President Nixon's firm support, Goodell was trounced by Sen. James Buckley, a Conservative party candidate. But House Minority Leader Gerry Ford's endorsements never waned and the two men remained friends.

When Ford became President and decided to extend amnesty to deserters and draft evaders, he picked Goodell to handle the ticklish chore. To date, Goodell has kept the program fair, low-keyed and free from all but routine friction. The job will be all but completed in a few months.

In the last few days, the President and his advisors have tentatively settled on Goodell as the man to replace Atty. Gen. William Saxbe if a graceful way can be found to get Saxbe to step down.

Saxbe dearly loves the job, however, and has told us he came away from a meeting with Ford a few weeks ago with the understanding that he could keep it.

At the White House, Saxbe is admired for his tough stands on crime which have also won him popularity with the average American. But Saxbe is outspoken and often is caught with his foot in his mouth. In addition, his deputy, Laurence Silberman, is handling most of Saxbe's day-to-day duties already. Ford, therefore, has decided that Saxbe eventually must go.

FOOD PRICE WATCH: The government report that food prices have gone up only 14 per cent will be challenged by Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah, who has conducted his own research in the supermarket.

The price index is compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics which claims that Americans are spending 14 per cent more for food than they did last year.

"It hurts more than 14 per cent," Owens told us. Therefore, he sent his investigator into a large discount grocery store in Salt Lake City. The investigator compared shelf prices on Sept. 16, 1974, with those on June 8, 1973.

Choosing basic food, he showed it is costing Owens' Salt Lake City constituents far more than 14 per cent for their three meals. Here are his findings:

Breakfast: Instant Tang, up 33 per cent; Wonder English Muffins, up 38 per cent; Parkay margarine and Welch's grape jelly to go on the muffins, up 106 per cent and 41 per cent respectively; Pillsbury Hungry Jack pancakes, up 32 per cent; Log Cabin Syrup for the pancakes, up 36 per cent; M.J.B. instant coffee, up 55 per cent or for Nestle's Quick, up 34 per cent; sugar for the coffee up 15 per cent; Nabisco shredded wheat up 27 per cent; milk in cartons, up 9 per cent.

Sack lunch: Bread up 49 per cent; Skippy Peanut butter, up 25 per cent; Clover Club potato chips, up 68 per cent; Oreo Cookies, up 39 per cent; Glad sandwich bags, up 16 per cent; the napkin cost 27 per cent more and the Zec brown lunch bag 31 per cent more.

Mexican Economy Dinner: Woods Cross tomatoes, up 52 per cent; Golden Grain pinto beans, up 198 per cent; Minute rice, up 48 per cent; Little Pancho tortillas, up 17 per cent; Jello dessert, up 50 per cent; popcorn while watching TV, a 66 per cent increase.

Owens believes the government statisticians have been going into the wrong supermarkets.

Footnote: Another explanation, he suggests, is that the BLS statistics are based on old 1961 eating habits. He believes people eat less meat today than they did in 1961. But meat prices which are 9.6 per cent lower than last year's prices have brought down the official index.

JOB RUCKUS: The chief lawyer for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has accused his chairman, John Powell, of "unwarranted and unauthorized interference" in a delicate discrimination case against the Purex Corp.

Instead of fighting for employees' rights through normal legal channels, charged commission general counsel William Carey, Powell tried to help Purex get a settlement behind the scenes.

In an unusual confidential letter, Carey said Powell had gone behind his back to get commission staff lawyers to sit down with a Purex representative. Carey also charged that Powell had advised Purex that problems in the case were only due to a "regrettable misunderstanding" by Carey's staff.

When Carey, a veteran trial attorney, learned of Powell's meddling, he fired off the letter. In it, he said Powell had "compromised the integrity of the Office of General Counsel" by making it appear a company could get "special treatment" by going to Powell.

The end result, said the scorching letter, was that Powell had hurt the case against Purex and taken a first step in destroying "public confidence" in the commission's fight against racial, sexual and other discrimination.

Powell, in a talk with us, said the episode was caused by lack of staff cooperation and failure of Carey to sit down and talk with him before the affair "escalated." Powell defended his staunch record on employment rights.

Anti-GOP Binge

By ROWLAND EVANS

and ROBERT NOVAK

LOS ANGELES — Lower middle-income white voters of Southern California who once marched in the Nixon silent majority so fear the economic future and so bitterly resent the Republican party that a huge Democratic victory here Nov. 5 seems assured.

That is the only conclusion to be drawn from our interviews in two silent-majority precincts in the San Fernando Valley which have been good barometers of statewide results. Our interviews, conducted with pollster Pat Caddell's Cambridge Survey Research organization, suggest no Republican campaigning can significantly halt the emotional tide.

The principal, largely innocent victim is state controller Houston I. Flournoy, a widely respected moderate who* is Republican nominee for governor. Out of 71 registered voters interviewed, these were the results: 42 for the Democratic candidate, secretary of state Edmund G. Brown, Jr.; 20 for Flournoy; 9 undecided. The reason most commonly given: Brown is a Democrat. Flournoy is a Republican. Though a statewide total along those landslide proportions is improbable, such sentiment in precincts that delivered majorities for Richard Nixon and Ronald Reagan represent a political turnover.

The overwhelming preference for Brown derives from a grim economic mood. Almost all voters interviewed feel the economy is in dreadful shape and, contrary to traditional American optimism, 57 of the 71 voters guessed it would be worse a year from now. One in three saw danger of 1929-style depression.

The bleak mood is heightened by unrelenting anger against Nixon. They disapprove of President Ford's pardon by nearly 4 to 1, and feel 2 to 1 that Nixon should still stand trial. Many volunteered hope that the Republicans suffer, at least this election, for Nixon's sins.

Typifying the mood is a 30-year-old grocery store assistant manager who is a registered Republican but plans to change it "the first chance I get." He is not sure he will vote Nov. 5, a common attitude that surely presages a light turnout. If he votes, it will be for Brown. He knows little about either candidate but has one overriding objection to Flournoy: "Just being a Republican."

Similarly, a retired auto salesman, a Nixon Democrat and self-described conservative, is worried Brown "may be too much like his old man" — former Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. Nevertheless, he will vote for Jerry Brown — "I'm so disgusted with the Republicans, I've got to go back to the Democrats."

Such attitudes run counter to high Republican strategic thinking. While Republicans stress Brown's youth (36) and inexperience and grumble that his family name is a major, unfair advantage, our voters cited youth and aggressiveness as his greatest virtues and identification with his father's eight-year regime as his greatest vice.

The voter perception of Flournoy is drenched with irony. Although a major California politician for a decade, few voters know enough about him to list personal virtues or vices. While favoring Brown for governor 2 to 1, the San Fernando voters gave Flournoy a respectable 56 per cent favorable rating (compared with Brown's 69 per cent). Although moderate Flournoy has often opposed conservative Gov. Reagan, they are seen as inseparable collaborators by anti-Reagan voters. A young hospital technician complained that Flournoy is "too conservative, too much like Ronnie."

Nor did last Tuesday's Brown-Flournoy debate over public television, the only debate Brown has permitted to be telecast statewide, have much impact. Only 20 of the 71 voters interviewed said they saw any part of the debate, and none seemed influenced.

Rather, many expressed displeasure over combativeness by the candidates. A commercial artist in his 40s compared it to "two fighters jabbing at one another," adding he "wasn't particularly impressed with either one." Nor did the debate, he confessed, remove his misgivings that Brown is a "party hack who can't deal in complexities." Still, he said, "he supports Brown 'because he's a Democrat.'"

Oddly, the Republican President escapes the anti-Reagan binge. Interviewed the day following his 5 per cent surtax proposal, these economically hard-pressed voters gave Mr. Ford an amazing 82 per cent job approval rating. They even gave him a slight edge for President in 1976 against Democratic Sens. Henry Jackson and Walter Mondale.

But Mr. Ford is not running in 1974, and good feeling toward him by voters who are so angry at his party hardly helps Hugh Flournoy. The real question now seems to be whether silent-majority voters will exercise their wrath against Republicans this year but how long that wrath will extend into the future.

He Should Have Paid the Bill

Berry's World

"I think it's simply awful that we won't let other countries compete in the World Series."

The executive who trusts his secretary completely has a bee in his underwear. It can crawl, it can sting, it can escape, it can tickle. It can even make honey — a deadly situation.

Francisco Introcasso — which is not his real name — is one of the best investment bankers in Southern California. We had met at some cocktail parties, and my interest in him was that he could discuss matters other than money.

He had dark shiny hair and the expression of a serene priest. Mr. Introcasso appeared to be about 40 give or take a season, and he could laugh uproariously at a joke or tell one.

The third martini flirts kissed him with their eyes, but the banker had no time for sexual fencing. His attitude was courtly and he didn't have to act dignified to be dignified.

"Mutual friends told me a little about him. He had started as a clerk in the Bank of America. He sponged knowledge so swiftly that he won promotion after promotion. Everyone said Francisco was 'a comer.'"

He married a high school classmate who believed in another faith. There was a baby girl, Introcasso, still climbing with ease, formed an investment banking firm with three older, wiser men. It required only 11 years for him to buy them out and own everything.

Sooner or later, every successful man faces a grave problem. In a burst of rage, Mrs. Introcasso said he paid more attention to his secretary than to her. She was not charging him with having an "affair." The lady meant that he spent 10 hours a day working out business deals with Miriam, his private secretary, and was too tired to kiss his wife goodnight.

Miriam, a spinster, enjoyed her master-slave relationship with Mr. Introcasso. So far as I know, she never aspired to anything better. She understood him so well that, when he read a letter and said, "Tell him no," she could write the letter in his phrases down to the final diplomatic declension.

Mrs. Introcasso sued for a separation and custody of the child. She asked for $30,000 a year. If the court expected a contest, it was disappointed. Through counsel, Francisco explained his deep love for his wife and his adoration of his daughter Frances. Then he agreed to the separation, and voluntarily hiked the alimony to $42,000.

The women left California and bought a mountain-side home near Rainbow Valley, in Arizona. Years went by. The checks always arrived on time. On wedding anniversaries, and birthdays, there were heaps of flowers and gifts.

On the nights of the big stars, Mrs. Introcasso turned the stereo on and sat outside, looking at the deep blue of distance, feeling guilty. If only Francisco had not worked so hard for success. If only he had thought to take her to a dance, a movie. If only he — If. If.

Once — just once — she phoned Introcasso with bad news. Their only child was pregnant. The young man, as is the habit of those who love to take and never learn to give, ran away.

Francisco Introcasso was brokenhearted. He insisted that it could not have been "our baby's" fault. Of course not. The banker gave it thought and phoned a solution. "We're separated, but still married," he said. "Let her have the baby in Canada somewhere, and we will adopt it."

He had but one condition. It had to be in his faith — Roman Catholic. His wife felt she owed him this much. And so it was done. Mr. and Mrs. Introcasso traveled to Phoenix to have the infant boy christened. Francisco Introcasso They were apart, but they had a newborn son.

Life was like a huge perpetual dawn, with fingers of pink and yellow and blue reaching from horizon to heaven. Then came the phone call. Mrs. Introcasso got out of bed to take it. It was Miriam, her husband's secretary. She sobbed and was incoherent.

It took time to calm her. "Two weeks ago I went to lunch and forgot to bring my money. The check was a lousy three dollars, Mrs. Introcasso. A lousy three dollars I signed your husband's name. I meant to give him the money, but it slipped my mind."

"When he got the bill, he went into a rage. He called me names. I quit. I ran out. Let me tell you, he isn't going to get away with it. Mrs. Introcasso."

"You fly out to L.A. I'll meet you at the airport. I'm going to prove to you that your husband has three wives. Not two. Three. He doesn't know I have the checkbooks. He sends the same money to the others that he sends to you. Even the same flowers. And one more thing: he's 10 times as rich as you think he is."

Moral: Never trust a secretary $3 worth . . .

Atkinson Talks At PWP Meeting

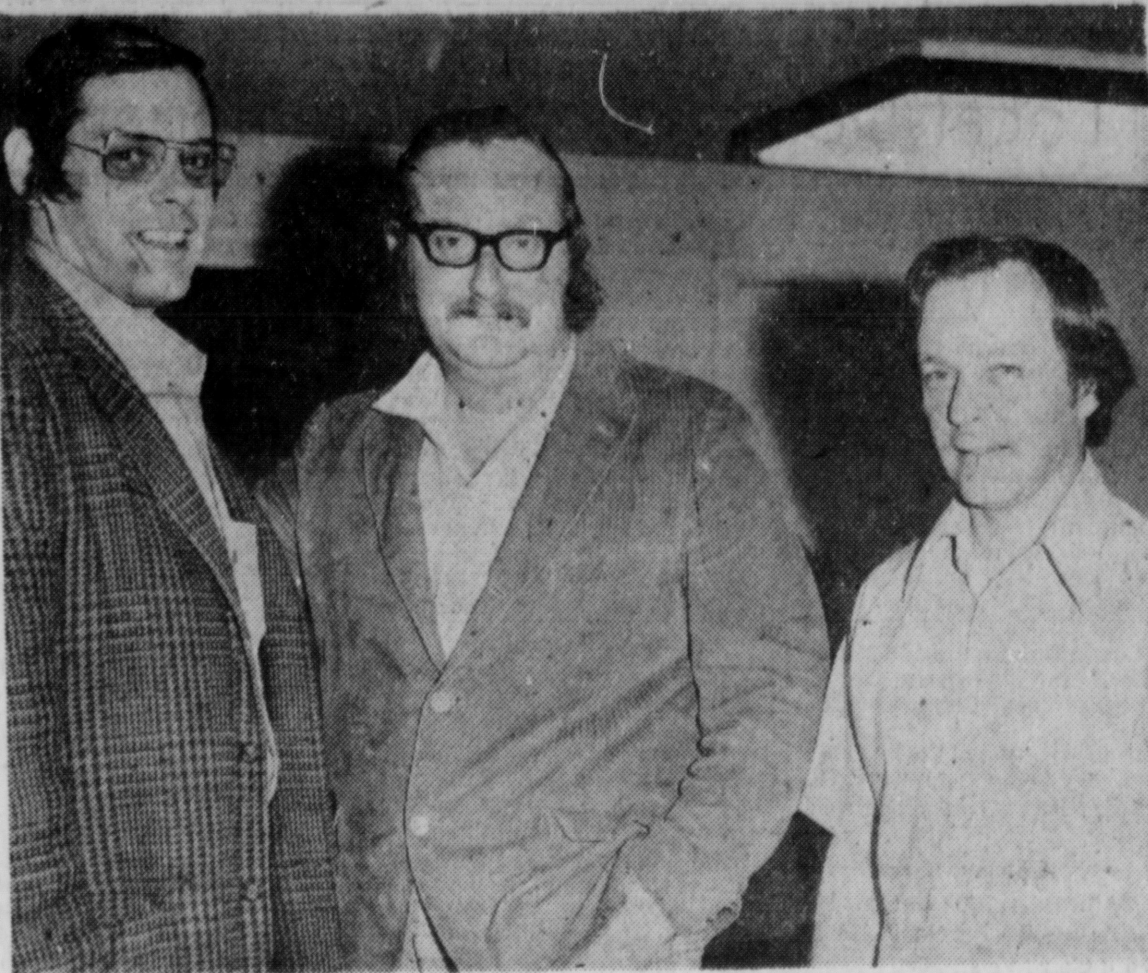

KINGSTON — Liberal Party candidate for the State Senate in the 40th District Paul Atkinson of Kingston went beyond state issues at a recent meeting of Parents Without Partners in Kingston recently and issued a scathing attack on "the kind of mentality that has led the country to the brink of disaster in Vietnam, Watergate and with corruption in all levels of government."

Atkinson suggested that it is "impossible to isolate ourselves from the rest of the country and the world when dealing with our problems on a state level. He said he, "would like to be able to stand here and tell you I have a solution for inflation, but if I did I would be a liar. Our state economy is affected by the national economy which is in the hands of the international bankers. Those who are elected to office, whether it be on a local, state or national level need the backing of an informed and activist public that realizes that their responsibilities of citizenship extend 365 days a year." Atkinson charged.

Reaction to Atkinson's presentation varied widely, from acceptance to outright hostility. A number of those present felt that the issues discussed were not pertinent to their needs, and suggested that day care centers were more in line with their interests. Atkinson indicated that he recognized the need for day care centers, but warned that "if the public at large continues to be only concerned for their own immediate physical needs and ignores the great moral issues of the day, our country will shortly face bigger problems than Watergate."

Atkinson opposes Republican State Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn who also has the Conservative endorsement and Democratic Mayor of Highland Falls, King James Weyant who lost the Liberal primary to Atkinson.

No-Fault Insurance

Bell Criticized for Weak Bill

KINGSTON — a year while denying them the right to sue in court where they could perhaps recover actual damages. Bell is opposed in the upcoming elections by Democrat Maurice D. Hinchey of Saugerties. Commenting on the no-fault insurance law, Brown said a wide public demand for no-fault insurance arose after passage of no-fault bills in other states.

Unfortunately, in the hands of legislators like Bell, even good ideas can be turned into bad ones — and that's just what happened. The result was legislation that almost voided the principle of no-fault insurance: insurance companies could balance reductions in one area by raising them in others, such as collision and property damage," he said.

Brown quoted an interview with Republican State Senator

Richard E. Schermerhorn in which Schermerhorn says insurance companies are "gouging" the public.

Not only does Bell take credit for sponsoring such anti-consumer legislation as the no-fault bill, but he actually expects the public to believe he has done something to improve their lives," Brown said. "Bell serves on the board of an insurance company; he and his fellow board members made more out of this bill than the in $2.00 or $5.00 most of us saved on our auto insurance premiums."

"The next time Bell says that Watergate or inflation and other major problems are based only in Washington, let's point out to him that the most blatant form of corruption is conflict of interest, and that inflation will not be checked as long as money-saving ideas like no-fault insurance are left in irresponsible hands," Brown concluded.

Union Endorses Assemblyman

KINGSTON — said Bell's voting record was an excellent one for transportation employees and all labor. Rogers added that the entire membership of the union in Ulster County has been notified and urged to assist Bell in his re-election efforts.

Liquor Group Supports Carey

NEW YORK CITY — The Association of Liquor Enforcement Agents, investigative employees of the New York State Liquor Authority, has endorsed the candidacy of Hugh Carey for governor. Anthony M. Papa, ALEA president, said the association is the first group of employees of a state agency to publicly endorse Carey.

Papa said that the association, by its endorsement, believes Carey is "best qualified to provide the necessary leadership to the licensed beverage industry and responsive to implementing positive change."

Some Tocks Island Aspects Seen Detrimental to N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Earlier this year, Wilson said he was opposed to the construction of the Tocks Island Dam project along the Delaware River between New Jersey and Pennsylvania appear to be detrimental to the people of New York State and to the state's resources. There is evidence that there are alternatives to Tocks Island which will meet the needs in a better way and at a lesser cost," a spokesman for the Republican governor said Tuesday.

The dam would create a 37-mile reservoir from Tocks Island to Port Jervis, N.Y., with most of the land to be flooded located in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

While the reservoir would involve only a small amount of land in New York, state officials became concerned about what effects it could have on farmers and communities in the Delaware's drainage basin in Delaware, Sullivan and Orange counties.

"This could affect 2,000 farms in New York State," Biggane said. "And they provide milk and eggs to New York City."

Wilson, as chairman of the Delaware River Basin Commission, had asked last July that Congress delay construction of the dam and to provide $1.5 million for the new, independent study of the project.

The other states on the commission supported the request, and Congress subsequently approved it.

Prior to this year, Biggane noted, New York had taken the position that if the other states wanted the project, it would go along. But, he said, "We began to pay attention to the concerns of New York State, not just to tag along with the others."

STEWARDESS IN A STEW — A spokesman for Pacific Southwest Airlines strongly advised one of its stewardesses not to pose nude for Playboy Magazine. But the stewardess, identified by the magazine as "Ester Cordet," a fictitious name, is seen as the publication's centerfold, "Miss October." One of the series of pictures shows Miss Cordet at work inside a jetliner, but the spokesman said the airline did not give permission for her to be photographed aboard the plane. Other stewardesses see the photo layout as a setback in their efforts to dispel the "coffee, tea or me" image. (UPI)

Ford to Dismiss 250 Employees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — About 250 employees of the Ford Motor Company's plant in nearby Green Island will be dismissed during the next few months, a company spokesman said Tuesday.

The cutbacks are due to a decision to stop manufacturing "leaf" springs, devices placed on the rear of cars and light trucks.

A Ford spokesman said transportation costs involved in sending the springs to the company's assembly plants in the Midwest have become too great. The springs will be obtained from three midwestern supply firms, the spokesman said.

One hundred and thirty employees will be dismissed Nov. 1 and an additional 120 will be jobless by early 1975, the spokesman said.

Javits Cancels Area Visit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R., N. Y., cancelled campaign appearances in Ulster and Dutchess counties today to fly to Washington to vote on the Railroad Retirement Act, a spokesman said.

The spokesman said Javits planned to return to New York for tonight's Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner.

The senator, in his drive for reelection, has received the endorsement of influential state and city-wide police and firefighters unions.

Instant Salad On Thruway

KINGSTON — "All you need is some lettuce and you'd have a giant tossed salad," commented one police officer after a truck loaded with garlic and tomatoes overturned on the New York State Thruway Tuesday night south of Kingston.

Police said the crash apparently resulted from a blowout on the truck operated by James Foster, 32, of Webster. Foster was not injured, according to authorities.

The mishap occurred at about 7:40 p.m. at mile post 90.3 northbound, about one mile south of the Kingston Thruway interchange.

The large truck rolled into a ditch on the right shoulder of the road after a tire blew out, police said.

Home Control System...Fire Check

If you are in bed asleep during the night, when most home fires occur, and a fire is discovered in your living room, how long do you have to get out alive?

KINGSTON which show there may be less than two minutes to escape alive from a bedroom from the time the average sleeper discovers a fire in the living room area.

Home Control Systems Inc. of Kingston, a new local company, Fire authorities recommend two life saving precautions. First, each family should have an escape plan so each member knows what to do and where to meet outside the home in case of fire. Second, each home should be equipped with an early warning fire detector to awaken sleeping occupants. A smoke detector of the ionization type provides the earliest possible warning, often before there is any visible smoke, the spokesman said. A device of this type installed outside the bedroom area will awaken sleeping occupants before the asphyxiating smoke and fire gases reach the sleepers and put them into an even deeper sleep.

With most home fires occurring between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m., death is most often caused by asphyxiation from smoke inhalation and oxygen depletion, the spokesman stressed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffay of Allen Drive, Woodstock, were winners of a Smokeguard Model II early warning home smoke alarm in a recent contest.

Representatives of Home Control System Inc., manufacturers of the Smokeguard Model II, are available for free safety demonstrations and equipment demonstrations to families and groups. A presentation may be scheduled by calling the firm or by writing to CPO Box 716, Kingston.

IBM Net Earnings Are Up

ARMONK For the nine months ended Sept. 30, worldwide consolidated net earnings of International Business Machines Corporation were $1,391,100,554 after taxes, or a 25.7 per cent increase over the corresponding period of last year, Frank T. Cary, chairman of the board, reported today.

Earnings per share were $9.45 on 147,198,011 share, the average number of shares outstanding during the period. Net earnings for the corresponding period in 1973 amounted to $1,106,745,137 equivalent to $7.59 per share on 145,912,047 shares, the average number of shares outstanding during the first nine months of last year, adjusted for the 25 per cent stock split effected May 10, 1973.

Earnings before income taxes amounted to $2,602,300,554 compared with $2,065,145,137 in the corresponding period of 1973.

Consolidated gross income for the nine months ended Sept. 30, amounted to $9,387,020,834 compared with $7,753,025,773 in the corresponding 1973 period, a 21.1 per cent increase.

Gross income for the quarter ended Sept. 30 amounted to $3,125,242,449, an increase of $369,392,290 compared with the same period last year. Net earnings amounted to $477,273,389, or $67,378,419 more than the third quarter last year.

Cary commented, "During the third quarter, outright purchases of data processing equipment were lower than the first and second quarters of 1974. We have previously reported that in view of the very high level of outright purchases in the last half of 1973, the comparative rates of

Rylance Firm Is Commended

KINGSTON William Rylance and Sons, Inc., Kingston, has received a letter of commendation from National Association of Printers and Lithographers for achievement of "zero injuries" during the Association's 1973-74 Safety Contest.

The local firm competed with nearly 200 other printing plants in the nationwide safety program. Employee safety awareness, fewer injuries, and higher productivity were aims of the contest.

"Despite softening economic conditions and high inflation rates around the world, shipments and installation of new data processing equipment continued at a high level during the third quarter."

"Gross income from rentals and services increased 9.5 per cent over the first nine months of 1973."

New Paltz Chamber Announces

No Ban on Christmas Lights

LONG ISLAND CITY ban on Christmas lights this year. Manufacturers of Christmas decorations have joined together in an effort to inform the American public that outdoor Christmas lighting will once again be part of our American tradition.

According to Peter Gilbert, president of the Decorative Lighting Guild of America, the group is concerned that people throughout the nation understand "that there will be no crisis because outdoor Christmas lights use only 1-40th of one per cent of the nation's annual energy output."

The entire nation suffered through a dark Christmas last year when President Nixon announced that he was banning outdoor Christmas lights — and the spirit usually evident was missing when it was sorely needed," Gilbert said. "The action taken then was strictly a public relations gimmick to focus attention on the energy crisis."

The Decorative Lighting Guild's announcement was made public in the Kingston area by the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce.

GM Advancements... A Wizard and a Vet

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors has advanced a financial wizard and a veteran auto engineer to its executive summit. Both are men with long internships with the nation's largest manufacturer.

The selection of Thomas A. Murphy as GM's new chairman of the board and E.M. "Pete" Estes as president indicates there is likely to be no dramatic shift in the firm's policies, say industry observers.

The GM board of directors selected the pair during a meeting in New York on Monday. And with the elevation of six other GM executives, policy-making at GM remains entrenched in many of the same hands which have helped guide the giant firm in the past.

In fact, observers all along have remarked on the similarities between the new officers, their policies and their retiring predecessors.

"This enlargement of the top management group recognizes the ever-increasing complexity of operating a modern worldwide enterprise," the board said after naming Estes and Murphy.

Murphy, an accountant, has been with GM since 1938. A former clerk in the firm's comptroller staff, he continues the GM tradition of having a strong money man holding the purse-strings of a company which rang up sales of $35.8 billion in 1973.

Murphy moved up from vice chairman, a position he took in 1972 when GM directors "jumped" him over a number of more experienced vice presidents.

Estes is a car maker. He started as a GM engineer at age 18, and now, 40 years later, is the head auto man for a company which marketed 8.6 million cars and trucks worldwide last year.

Murphy will take his new post on Dec. 1 when Richard C. Gerstenberg steps down after reaching mandatory retirement age of 65. Like his predecessor, James M. Roche, Gerstenberg has directed GM's powerful finance committee, and that job now falls to Murphy.

Estes assumes the presidency today following the retirement of Edward N. Cole, who reached the mandatory retirement age of 65 last month.

Murphy and Estes are both 58. They inherit two of the highest paying jobs in U.S. industry. Gerstenberg earned $938,000 in 1973 after stock options, while Murphy, who was vice chairman, pulled in $832,997. Cole made $846,500, and Estes was paid $703,500 as one of three executive vice presidents.

Richard L. Terrell, 55, and Oscar Lundin, 63, were promoted from their vice presidencies to fill Murphy's vice chairmanship.

Four men were selected for executive vice presidencies: F. James McDonald, Reuben Jensen, Howard Kehri and Roger B. Smith. They reflect the depth of leadership for which GM has been famous, and comprise the largest top management in the firm's history.

Chase Bank Is Offering A Calculator

NEW YORK — Banking at Chase Manhattan can add up to a substantial saving on the purchase of an electronic calculator beginning this month. Chase Manhattan Bank of Mid-Hudson will offer a Datacal mini electronic calculator at the special price of $19.95 plus tax until the end of October, a saving of more than half of the retail price.

Any customer opening a savings account for $250 or adding $250 to an existing account is eligible for the special premium. The $250 must be kept on deposit for at least one year.

"At Chase we want our special premiums to be really useful to our customers," said Donald P. Rider, president of Chase Manhattan Bank of Mid-Hudson.

"These days, when it's hard to make ends meet, a calculator can be a big help in balancing the family budget."

The Datacal calculator is available at all five branches in the Mid-Hudson area.

Chase Manhattan Bank of Mid-Hudson, formed in 1973, is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the $35.2 billion deposit Chase Manhattan Corporation, the nation's third largest bank holding company.

Two branches of Chase Manhattan Hudson Valley are located in Saugerties — one on Main Street and the other at Simmons Plaza, Route 9W.

Jennings Firm Accepted in National Unit

TOWN OF ULSTER — Jennings Construction Co., Inc. RD 2, Route 28, has been accepted for membership in the national Metal Building Dealers Association, C.A. Pickett, Fort Worth, Tex., president of the trade group has announced.

Charles A. Jennings Jr. will serve as the official representative casting his firm's vote in association business matters.

The local firm joins some 850 metal building industry firms in the association, which is dedicated to stressing professionalism among metal building dealers and promoting prefabricated metal construction in general. It sponsors educational meetings and seminars and conducts the metal building industry's only national trade show.

"We try to be certain that our membership rolls include only the finest metal building dealers and contractors in the nation," Pickett said. "We're happy to have Jennings Construction Co. as a member."

VW Beetle Tops 57 MPG

WATKINS GLEN — A Volkswagen Beetle, driven by Dave Dillon, auto editor of the Norwich Evening Sun, averaged 57.2 miles per gallon of gas here recently in the second annual running of "The 32-Ounces of Watkins Glen" economy test sponsored by World-Wide Volkswagen Corp. and its dealers in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Driving a strictly stock Beetle, Dillon set a record for the event in which 17 editors from general circulation and college newspapers participated. Last year the winning average was "only" 55 miles per gallon.

Each of the identical VWs was allotted only one quart of fuel and was driven around the Watkins Glen Grand Prix circuit until it went dry.

Second place — 55.6 miles per gallon — was taken by James Nordmann of the State Maritime University of New York in the Bronx. Third place, at an even 50 miles per gallon, was earned by another college editor, Jim McNay, representing the Rochester Institute of Technology in Rochester.

Even the last placed car surpassed the 25 miles per gallon VW claims most drivers can expect from a Bug in normal use; it got a creditable 38.0 miles per gallon.

The Volkswagen dealer in the Kingston area is Amerling Volkswagen, Inc., Ulster Avenue Mall.

Master Charge for Hunters

NEW YORK — Which of the following items are impossible for a hunter to charge on his Master Charge card? Ithaca LSA-55 bolt-action rifle in caliber .22-250. A 12-inch survival knife with compartment in handle to hold matches. Ursus hornbills. A license to own a gun. An aluminum gun case able to hold two rifles or shotguns, with or without scopes. A box of Browning 12-gauge shotgun shells. Can of gun-blue paste, listed above. He also cannot go into a store and come out with a Mossberg 390K 16-gauge clip-fed shotgun. Insulated camouflage hunting suit. A permit to hunt pronghorn antelope in Wyoming. Redfield variable 4X-12X rifle scope. Leather-lined, cleated hunting boots. A hunting license. Weaver Quik-Point shotgun sight. About the only items the sportsman cannot charge on his Master Charge card at many full-line sporting goods stores are the licenses and permits using his Master Charge card. The card, which boasts more than 33-million U.S. cardholders, permits needed purchases for an outing afield when ready cash is low. Hunters have the option of paying in full within 30 days at no extra charge or of budgeting payments in convenient, monthly installments for a small revolving credit charge, usually 1½ per cent per month.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved lower today amid indications of further profit-taking and fading hopes for lower oil prices.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down almost a point and declines took a moderate lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said some selling may be encouraged by uncertainty over the oil price outlook. Saudi Arabia has decided to go along with oil price increases decreed by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, and there are reports that the surplus in oil production has ended.

Slides on Coins

A slide presentation of all types of silver coins minted since 1793 will be shown at the Oct. 17 meeting of the Saugerties Coin Club. The meeting will be held in the Community Room of the Sawyer Savings Bank, Market Street at 8 p.m. Interested coin collectors may attend.

HELLO KINGSTON

If the new Ponderosa Steak House were just another place to take your family for an inexpensive dinner, we wouldn't bother opening the doors.

We can do better than that.

We will, of course, serve you a very fine steak, broiled to your order, with plenty of other good food to go along with it.

But we'll also greet you at your car with an umbrella if it's raining.

We will help your children with their trays.

And we will refill your coffee and soft drink cups free, because we want you to leave Ponderosa as happy as possible, not as fast as possible.

If, at any time or for any reason, you are less than completely satisfied with our food, our service or anything else about Ponderosa, we won't let you leave until you are completely satisfied.

Welcome to Ponderosa.

Pioneer Joins Pumpkin Sail

KINGSTON The restored cargo schooner Pioneer will join the Hudson River Sloop Restoration's Clearwater on the "Pumpkin Sail" cruise from Kingston to Staten Island.

The Clearwater begins its third annual Pumpkin Sail from Albany Wednesday. Pioneer will join the Clearwater in Kingston, from which they will both depart Friday, after a Pumpkin Party that day.

The Clearwater is a replica of the packet sloops of the Hudson River from the 19th century, and in carrying pumpkins downriver from the Mid-Hudson Valley to New York City, she reenacts the role of the sloops which plied the Hudson in former days. Pioneer, a schooner from South Street Seaport Museum in New York City, is part of the restored fleet which that museum is completing to recreate the New York City waterfront of the last century.

The Pioneer will be joining the Clearwater on the Pumpkin Sail for the first time.

When the Clearwater and the Pioneer dock near the Driftwood Theatre in Kingston Friday, it will be for the Pumpkin Party, and the loading of more than 10 tons of fresh pumpkins for the cruise. Entertainers from the local community will be on hand to sing folk tunes, and the pumpkin-loading will be done by school children. The festivities are scheduled between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Saturday, from noon to dusk, the two ships will be open for walking tours at Kaal Rock Park in Poughkeepsie; there will be entertainment both on shore and on board.

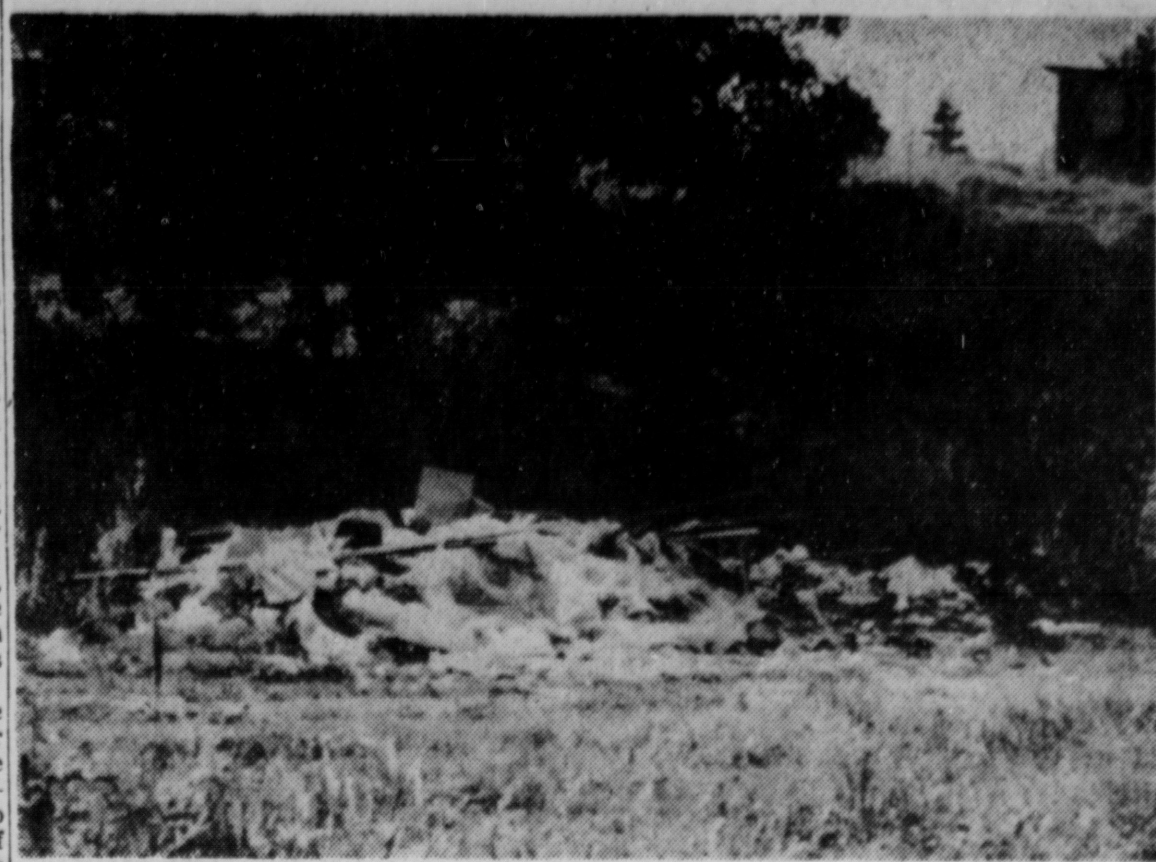

Sunday, the two ships will be alternating between Beacon and Newburgh, Oct. 21 and 23, the sent the best of the Hudson's ships will tie up at VerPlanck heritage.

Point for rest, with some pumpkins available then. Wednesday, Oct. 24, the ships will be at Dobbs Ferry and Yonkers from noon to dusk.

Friday, Oct. 25 from 3 to 6 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 26 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., the ships will be at Roberto Clemente State Park, formerly Harlem River Park, with a variety of entertainment planned.

Sunday, Oct. 27 and Monday, Oct. 28, South Street Seaport will host the ships, with all-day pumpkin parties, and the pumpkin cargo for sale. Tuesday, Oct. 29, the ships may leave South Street for a stop at Staten Island, and Wednesday the ships will be in Jersey City.

Joseph R. Phillips, executive director of the Hudson River Sloop Restoration, stated, "We hope once again to bring communities to the waterfront to participate in the recreation of this traditional event. We are especially looking forward to working with the Seaport Museum on this sailing venture."

CLEAN UP TIME — Senior Girl Scouts of Troop 7 is sponsoring an all out campaign to clean up New Paltz Saturday, Oct. 19. Meeting place will be the village garage. There will be two shifts from 10 a.m. to noon and from noon to 2 p.m. Other youth groups and civic organizations and individuals will participate. Rain date will be Oct. 20 from 2 to 4 p.m. Target of the clean up campaign will be such blights on the landscape as this trash pile near Simmons Plaza, New Paltz.

Law for All Course

STONE RIDGE A credit free course on "Law Everyone Should Know" will be offered for five consecutive Monday nights in October and November by the Continuing Education Department at Ulster County Community College.

The course, open to all interested county residents, will be held at the Life Long Learning Center at Saugerties High School. The first class will be held Oct. 28.

Intended to provide citizens with a basic understanding of the most common legal procedures and principals of law, the course will cover wills, estates, estate planning, family relations (including marriage, adoption and divorce), accident cases, criminal law, contracts, real estate, court structure and jurisdiction and basic court procedures.

John Koplovitz, a Woodstock attorney, will be the instructor. The course was designed by the New York State Bar Association in conjunction with the New York State Education Department.

The registration deadline is Oct. 21. Persons may register at the Office for Continuing Education, located in the Clinton Administration Building on the Stone Ridge campus, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 6 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Persons may also register by mail.

New Class Opens To Meet Demand

STONE RIDGE Because of popular demand, the Office for Continuing Education at Ulster County Community College has opened another section of a credit-free course in chair caning on six Tuesday nights, starting Oct. 22, at the Stone Ridge campus.

Persons interested in enrolling in this new section may use the registration forms in the Fall, 1974, brochure mailed to all Ulster County postal patrons in August. The course section has been numbered CRF 772B, and registration forms and fees should be mailed or taken to Ronald A. Koster, associate dean of faculty for continuing education; reports there still are several other short credit-free courses in which registration still are being accepted. Interested persons are encouraged to contact the Office for Continuing Education for further information.

Zoning Session Set Tonight

TOWN OF ULSTER The third of four informational meetings on a proposed zoning ordinance for the Town of Ulster will be held tonight at 8 p.m. at Chambers School, according to announcement made by Town of Ulster Zoning Commission Chairman Francis E. Mulvaney.

The meetings are planned to act as a sounding board in determining the future of the proposed ordinance. The town will proceed with the plan "if the people are interested," he said.

The fourth informational meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 23 at 8 p.m. at the Miller School.

Following the conclusion of the fourth meeting, the proposal will then be aired at a public meeting at a date and place to be determined.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed telephone rate schedule has been filed with the Public Service Commission, to be effective November 5, 1974:

The introduction of rates, charges and regulations for Information System Access Lines (ISAL), which are Dial PBX, Centrex and Centralized Switching Service lines connected acoustically, inductively or electrically to automated subscriber provided information systems.

ISALs associated with Dial PBX Systems, Dial Communications Services and Centrex and Centralized Switching Services, each

*The monthly rate does not apply for ISALs associated with Dial PBX Series 500 Service.

The above rate is in addition to all other applicable rates and charges and is subject to a 12 month minimum charge.

HEADS WORKSHOP — Ellenville School Social Worker Mrs. Charlotte Frank has been invited by the State Education Department to lead a workshop at the Tri-State Leadership Workshop today, Thursday, Friday. School social workers from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have been invited to the conference, which will be held at the Mercy Study Center in Connecticut.

State Clarifies Status Of Patients and Voting

ALBANY Voting residences of in-Voting Rights Act of 1972, Wiley patients at department facilities said that patients and residents normally remain the same as at department facilities may be before admission. For patients able to vote by absentee ballot and residents living in the even though the Election Law community, determination of voting residence depends on the facts of the individual situation, and should be determined by local election officials.

A 1972 revision of the Election Law made it possible for patients and residents to register to vote by absentee registration. However, the section of the law which prohibits patients and residents in a mental institution from voting by absentee ballot has not been changed.

Wiley noted, however, that the absentee provisions of the Election Law have been considered by the U.S. Supreme Court and found unconstitutional in a case that may have some bearing on the status of patients and residents.

On the basis of the Supreme Court decision and various provisions included in the U.S.

Project Starlight International:

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The reported UFO sightings in the fall of 1973. In the center of the display which they believe some intelligent creature might identify as "dot-dot-dot-tify."

He said on Oct. 22, 1973, his crew of observers spotted two lights in the sky where stars were not supposed to be. "They were oval shaped white objects. The four of us aimed our camera lenses at them and they turned down their lights just like a rheostat. Then they disappeared. "Within four minutes two Phantom jets from Bergstrom Air Force Base came zooming in closer to our site than they ever had come before. They were followed by a prop plane. It's quite possible they sighted the same things we did."

Stanford says he has seen dozens of UFOs since he began his research project in Arizona in 1964. He said most sightings can be explained. Its the others that interest him.

"I cannot rest at ease until this thing is solved," he said. "We are not interested in collecting UFO stuff, but scientific data and we are attempting to see if a UFO will respond to intelligent signals."

The Air Force, which is the U.S. government's official investigatory agency for UFO's, doesn't take data from civilians, Stanford said, so his information is shared with other UFO research groups in California, Arizona, Illinois and Maryland.

He said he believes creatures that pilot UFO's aren't necessarily super-intelligent and haven't developed means of flight incomprehensible to man. "They don't have to be any more intelligent than we are, just about 10 years ahead of us. This kind of work is going on in highly secret projects today and we'll probably have something like this in 10 to 15 years," he said.

School Lunch Week ...28th Anniversary

KINGSTON Program has been carried out without locally budgeted moneys for 13 years. The cost of the lunch is 40 cents in the Elementary and Junior High Schools and 45 cents in the Kingston High School where the lunch is more substantial. Although emphasis is placed on the mid-day meal, overall nutritional good habits are also stressed. With the cooperation of the School Lunch Program, breakfasts have been made available to elementary school children.

The School Nurse Teacher in cooperation with the classroom teacher covers the educational material relating to breakfasts. Another plan carried out in Kingston is the kindergarten lunches. Each year in May or June schools are able to schedule kindergarten lunches on one day. It has been found that first graders are hesitant to purchase a school lunch. By introducing the kindergarten child to eat in school, it is believed that a more easy acceptance of lunch is possible when they reach first grade.

There is no doubt that it is important, say school officials, to provide children with many experiences to learn about food and nutrition during their early years when their attitudes about food are being formed. Hopefully, these experiences will be pleasant ones so that children will develop good eating habits for life.

J-A Session

Post-Stroke Patients ... Pilot Study Due

A group of post-stroke patients is being organized by the staff of the Nursing Division of Ulster County Health Department in a six-month pilot study. Plans and arrangements for the organization were discussed at a recent meeting involving Didi Picoult, speech pathologist; and Candy Watkinson, and John Schock, physical therapists. There were seven persons who had suffered cerebral vascular accidents at the first formal session held at the Flatbush Annex of the County Office Building. They plan to meet twice per month. The purpose of the rehabilitation program for those who have suffered strokes is to eliminate the self-imposed isolation most common among this group. There are now nine Post Stroke Patient Clubs in the state. Prospective members are recruited through referrals from hospitals, nurses and other agencies. In discussing the program, Ms. Picoult said the greatest need at the moment is transportation. The Nursing Division is seeking volunteers from among service groups and other organizations that would be willing to provide transportation as a community project. The need is to transport members to meetings at the Flatbush Annex every two weeks. Those interested may contact Ms. Picoult or Ms. Watkinson at the County Building, Main and Fair Streets, Kingston. As the program develops, social and some sports activities will be planned. Some of the objectives outlined are: To improve the patient's ability to interact with other individuals; to increase the patient's self-acceptance; to provide positive reinforcement of being a useful and creative individual; and to teach activities which will be physically therapeutic and improve communicative ability. The purpose of the group session is to provide a situation where stroke victims with varying degrees of impairment can meet in an atmosphere which, although informal, will be under the guidance of a speech pathologist and physical therapist. One of the problems noted is the unwillingness of some of the patients to socialize since the onset of their stroke. Another problem observed is that their preoccupation with their disability often prevents them from using great amounts of spare time now available to them. The patient's handicrafts they pursued prior to their stroke will be used, such as carpentry, sewing, cooking, painting and other occupational activities.

Founder's Day Luncheon for Senior's Club

A founder's Day Luncheon, to honor those who pioneered the formation of the St. Joseph's Senior Citizen Club, has been set for Thursday, Nov. 14, in the Garden Lounge of the Governor Clinton Hotel. Tickets for the event will be available at the club's meeting Thursday. Honored at the luncheon will be the Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, and parish volunteers Mrs. Adele Tuttle, Mrs. Maryann Sippel, Patricia Gilligan, Mrs. Pat Murphy, Mrs. Dottie Smith, Mrs. Eleanor Connerton, Mrs. Joan Anne Mahoney, Mrs. Jean Vanheusen, Marie Ketterer, and Mrs. Rose DiPen.

Openings on Library Board

Harold Pinckney, chairman of the nominating committee for the Kingston Area Library Board of Trustees has announced three openings on the board. Elections will be held in January for terms for three years. Interested persons should notify Mr. Pinckney by December first, by writing to him at 159 Mary's Ave., Kingston, 12401, including those qualifications which they feel would make them contributing members of the board. Potential candidates are reminded that the Library Board of Trustees is a working board as opposed to an advisory board. Realistically, candidates should be prepared to spend time on special library business other than attending board meetings. In recent years the Library's philosophy has stressed the need for continuing improvement in all areas. The board must remain pledged to this philosophy said Pinckney.

The award for Best Decorated bike was presented to Marcia Burhans, winner of an award for the senior contestant. A dental group of Kingston had the largest organized group. One contestant traveled 84 miles covering the Bike-A-Thon course 14 times. An eight-year-old the youngest contestant covered five laps or 30 miles. Judges for the Bike-A-Thon contest in addition to Mrs. Beck were Donna Stephano, Miss Hope 1974; Mrs. Madeline Wendrow, Ulster County Unit executive director and Robert C. "Josh" Randall, Crusade chairman. Randall said the Ulster County Chapter is very grateful to many people and groups that cooperated in the second annual event, especially the County Sheriff's Department, Kingston Police Department, Kingston Recreation Department and Doctor's Ambulance who were in attendance in the event of emergencies. Randall said there were nearly 50 volunteers assisting with arrangements for the event. Donuts and cider were also donated for refreshments. The top prize to be awarded is a 10-speed bike donated by Bernie Singer, local Firestone tire dealer, Ulster Shopping Mall.

Chamber Breakfast Meeting

Child Abuse to Be Topic

KINGSTON Bernhardt S. Kramer, commissioner of the Ulster County Department of Social Services, will discuss child abuse, and the programs currently underway to uncover and prevent it, at the Oct. 22 monthly breakfast meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County.

The meeting, open to the general public, will begin at 7:45 a.m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Kramer, a Kingston native, is a graduate of the Kingston School system, St. John's University, the St. John's University School of Law, and the Moran Institute of St. Lawrence University. His employment record includes service in city, county and state governmental units. A veteran of Army service during World War II, he assumed his current position as Commissioner of Social Services in May, 1972.

A question and answer session will follow Kramer's prepared remarks Tuesday.

Reservations must be made by contacting the Chamber office no later than Monday morning, Oct. 21.

Supplemental Security Income

A Warning About Penalty

KINGSTON People who don't report changes in circumstances that affect their supplemental security income payments may have a penalty deducted from future payments, according to George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston.

The supplemental security income program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled. Eligibility for payments and payment amounts can be affected by changes in income, place of residence, marital status and other circumstances. "People have 30 days to report such changes to any social security office," said Habernig. "Under the law, failure to report changes — or delay in reporting changes — can mean reductions in supplemental security income payments."

The penalty, said Habernig, is $25 for the first failure or delay, $50 for the second and $100 for each subsequent failure or delay.

"The penalty isn't applied if people couldn't help reporting late or weren't at fault for not reporting changes in their circumstances," Habernig continued, "also, people who make a false statement that causes them to get money not rightfully due may be prosecuted for fraud."

Persons receiving supplemental security income payments can obtain information about reporting changes by calling or writing any social security office. There is a Social Security Administration Office at 57 Albany Avenue, Kingston.

A New Testing Program

NEW PALTZ The New Paltz Central School will administer the new standardized examinations in Grades 3, 6 and 9.

The revised form of the Iowa Test of Basic Skills will be given in mathematics, reading and vocabulary, and the language arts. This aspect of the exam will test the achievement levels of students in the above subjects.

Also, the Cognitive Abilities Test which is correlated with the Iowa Achievement Exam will be given to the same students; the cognitive test will measure potential.

Dr. Robert Bennett, assistant superintendent for instruction, indicated that the administering of the two exams will give the school a better insight into comparing a student's achievement with his potential or ability. Thus, new "target areas" and methods may be established in improving student skills in the basic subjects. The New York State Achievement Tests in reading and mathematics are required to be given in Grades 3, 6 and 9. Consequently, it will be possible to compare the Iowa Achievement and Ability tests with the New York State exams. Comparing the various test results will give a more accurate assessment in determining student needs. Better planning will be possible in establishing priorities for remedial and corrective assistance.

American Education Week

Rondout Valley Sets Open House

KYSERIKE Open Houses, in observance of American Education Week 1974, will be held in all Rondout Valley Central School District schools the week of Oct. 20.

Parents and friends are invited to visit classrooms, view student work and demonstrations, and talk with teachers. Last year's theme asked people to "Get Involved."

this year's theme is "Stay Involved."

The four elementary schools in the district will welcome visitors Tuesday, Oct. 22. Hours at the Accord School are from 7 to 9:30 p.m.; in Kerhonkson from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.; in Marletown from 6:30 to 8 p.m.; and in Rosendale from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

The Middle School will hold its open house from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday Oct. 24. The evening will be divided into four time slots, with activities slated for each.

The High School will have an open house Wednesday, Oct. 23, from 7:45 to 9:30 p.m., with a welcoming by Principal James L. Vertucci.

Four in Ellenville Attack Billing Procedures

School Board Members Want Manager's Resignation

By WADE BURKHART
ELLENVILLE
The four school board members who voted against the approval of a new contract for Ellenville Central School District Business Manager Sol Sashin (the contract was approved by a 5-4 vote at this month's regular board meeting) have issued a press release in which they call for his resignation.

In the statement, Board President Sonia Olsen, and Board members Florence Kirby, Lee Augustine, and Jack Siegel, said Sashin's procedures for presenting bills to the board had left the school district with a $15,000 deficit last July, and that the board had been presented with bills in the amount of $152,022.51 in September. The statement said some of the September bills were more than a year old, "... for which of course no provisions were made in this year's budget."

Sashin declined to comment on the statement Tuesday, other than to say "there was no deficit." He said the charges were "political" and that he may issue a written statement "later, but I doubt it."

He said it was more important that five members of the board voted for him than that four were against. "It means a majority of the board members are satisfied with the type of operation being carried on," he said.

In their statement, which was read into the meeting's minutes, the board members said that Sashin's defense was that past boards and school superintendents had "permitted this to carry over from year to year." Sashin has been at his position in Ellenville for 16 years.

"We feel that former boards and superintendents should be exonerated from these charges, because they could not be reasonable, no more than both local and state auditors who were also unaware of, encumbered bills in Mr. Sashin's possession," said the statement.

The Ellenville district recently received a report from the State Department of Audit and Control that was mainly favorable.

Citing what they called their "own strong moral feelings of accountability," the four board members stated, "We therefore in good conscience cannot support and reward the business manager with a contract, and furthermore believe his resignation would be in the best interest of the children and taxpayers of this school district."

The contract approved for Sashin is for the 1974-75 school year, and calls for a salary of $21,500. Travel outside the district is compensated for at the rate of 14 cents per mile, and travel within the district is to be done "where possible" in a school vehicle, according to board minutes.
According to the minutes, Board Vice President Irving Esrig, and Board members Kenneth Beck, Morris Rosner, and Adrian Milton all took exception to the statement against Sashin.

Sewer District Vote Causing Problems in Woodstock

By TIM SCHUSTER
WOODSTOCK
Supervisor Vern May announced Tuesday night that he will know "within a day or two" whether or not Woodstock voters will be able to cast their ballots on a new sewer district on Election Day.
Ongoing discussions with the New York State Office of Local Government are underway, with some technical problems under study, he reported at the regular board meeting.
May said he received some information Tuesday afternoon and it might be possible that residents can vote on the sewer district Nov. 5 along with other issues and candidates, but in a different room.
If not, said May, the referendum on whether to proceed with a final engineering report for the estimated $2.5 million system will be held within a week or so of Election Day.
The board could have followed a different procedure, said the supervisor, and formed a district by resolution, proposed a bond issue by resolution, and called for a referendum on both the district and the money, thus placing the items together on the ballot.

But the board chose to get the "go ahead" from the people by having them either approve or disapprove of the district itself first, said May. "Being nice guys, we have a problem," he added.
He said the primary reason that this procedure is being followed is, "We did not want to go ahead and form a district and put bonding up for a vote before we had the final engineering report."
And it was explained that a permissive referendum is still problem; I say it's a good time, District; gave a brief resume; subdivisions. State Police Helicopters Have Many Uses

By MATT SPIRENG

HURLEY

"Thank God my children are alive."

That was the reaction of a Long Island man after his two young children were plucked from the raging waters of the Esopus Creek in the Town of Saugerties by a New York State Police helicopter.

The date was June 29, 1972, shortly after hurricane Agnes swept through New York, leaving death and destruction in its wake. But the two Long Island youngsters visiting Ulster County survived their ordeal, as did many trapped by floodwaters in the Elmira area, through the efforts of the New York State Police Aviation Unit.

Through the years since its inception in the late 1960's, the Aviation Unit, which now consists of four helicopters and one fixed wing plane based at various locations throughout the state, has succeeded in numerous rescues. But the 12 men assigned to the aviation unit and their aircraft take to the skies for a wide variety of reasons in addition to rescue efforts.

"It's an invaluable machine," commented Lt. Stanley Kowalik, Zone Commander of state police forces stationed in Ulster and Greene Counties, as one of the Aviation Unit's "choppers" touched down behind State Police Zone Headquarters in Hurley recently.

After shutting down the noisy engine, Technical Sergeant John Harrington, who had piloted the craft on its 15-minute flight from Stewart Airport to Hurley, emerged to explain some of the uses to which the state police helicopters are put.

According to Harrington, April through November is the busiest period for the Aviation Unit, with the helicopters being utilized nearly every day — weather permitting.

Criminal activities, downings, lost people, escapes — all seem to be more prevalent during that period, Harrington explained. "It seems everyone wants to escape during the nice weather," he quipped.

From the helicopter, troopers can spot and pin down escapees in rural areas, or, if they have a description of a vehicle used in a crime or an escape, they can spot and track it from the air. Sgt. Harrington pointed out that no car can outrun the chopper, which has a cruising speed of 120 miles per hour.

"It would take a hundred men to do the amount of checking one helicopter can do when searching for a specific vehicle after a crime," Lt. Kowalik said. The Zone Commander also pointed out that the helicopter is a useful tool in making a major raid. "The advantage of being high above the scene is tremendous," he said. "The supervising officer can direct the whole operation from there."

Other uses include spotting bodies floating beneath the surface of the water, checking traffic situations during holidays and other peak periods. Locally, helicopters were used surveillance, and, infrequently, extensively recently in attempts transfer of injured. Although stretchers are carried, it was pointed out that the Aviation Unit is not equipped for nor prepared to be an ambulance service.

Coxsackie correctional institution. Then, feeling safe with the knowledge that Sgt. Harrington had flown over 1,300 hours of combat time in a helicopter in Vietnam prior to joining the to the supervisory officer at a state police in 1970, this station to decide whether the reporter braved a short flight specific situation warrants the use of a helicopter in each case. Sgt. Women Out of Pants And Men into Skirts?

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — The arbiters of style decree that this is the year women get out of pants and into skirts.

Whether they succeed in the switch depends not so much on their dictates as on the changes of society involving both sexes. Matter of fact, men might end up in skirts. This is the viewpoint put forth by fashion historian Moira Johnston.

"It is not just women's limited role that is being challenged but the values and priorities of an entire civilization," says Ms. Johnston. "The barricades phase of this revolution began for women when they put on jeans, hoping by a symbolic 'taking-on-of-pants' to absorb male power and privilege by osmosis."

"Armed with the pill, these women in pants are the first in history who can laugh at the old fertility image."

"Pants are still battle dress for women fighting a large bank for the right not to wear 'cute' uniforms or take the bank's charm course . . ."

"There are some signs though that as soon as basic goals have been achieved, women might not want pants; men might end up in some form of skirt . . ."

"Some women are convinced that long skirts can be freer than pants as long as they're not stretched over hoops or dragging coronation trains."

Ms. Johnston's review of style changes through the centuries and the forces that created them is featured in the current issue of the "Journal of Home Economics," official publication of the American Home Economics Association (AHEA). She is based in San Francisco.

She reviews the way women got where they are in dress—

"for thousands of years women of many cultures have been willing participants in their own mutilation . . . hidden under a cloak of words like fashion, modesty and femininity, this conspiracy has used body and clothes to define a woman's role."

Ms. Johnston writes that, "We have seen pants as male symbols for so long that it's hard for us to grasp the fact that it's a peculiar thing to have happened."

Men have not always worn pants in the rest of the world—"for thousands of years the wrapped skirt has draped the hips of men in Egypt, the Middle East, Africa, Southeast Asia and many other regions," she says. And then there are the kilts still alive in the Scottish Highlands.

Most recently, in women's apparel she cited the relationships between the silhouette and the feminine role. "Whenever there is a hint of equality or of a loosening of morals, the silhouette loosens up . . ."

"In the 1920s, short skirts, shingled hair and flat chests coincided with the vote, work and education for women."

"The long seductive gowns of the 1930s and the post-war 'New Look' revived the ancient images, however, as home and babies again took priority."

As for today, she continues, "Men are coming to meet women more than halfway as the business suit comes to seem a hollow shell."

"It is the aggressive, trousers-wearing men of science and reason who have brought the world to the brink of environmental and spiritual crisis. Suddenly the so-called 'feminine' characteristics are beginning to look like the answer, not the problem."

"The myths of inherent inferiority are being shot down by research."

New UCCC Production Award-Winning Play Opens on Friday

The Ulster County Community College Department of Speech and Theatre opens its Theatre Season on Friday night, Oct. 18, with its production of Robert Bolt's award-winning play, A Man for All Seasons, directed by John Lawson announced today. It will run for four performances, beginning Friday and Saturday, Oct. 18 and 19, and again, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 1 and 2.

A Man for All Seasons is the portrayal of the life of Sir Thomas More, lawyer, scholar, and ultimately, Chancellor of England under Henry VIII.

He was a man with a uniquely powerful sense of his own self, who, as author Bolt states, "Knew where he began and left off, what area of himself he could yield to the encroachments of his enemies, and what to the encroachments of those he loved. It was a substantial area in both cases, for he had a proper sense of fear and was a busy lover. Since he was a clever man and a great lawyer he was able to retreat from those areas in wonderfully good order, but at length he was asked to retreat from that final area where he located his self. There this supply of humorous unassuming and sophisticated person set like metal, was overtaken by an absolutely primitive rigor, and could no more be budged than a cliff."

The play is told through the eyes of the "Common Man", a guide through the various time slots through which the action of the play passes. The role is played by Michael Gallagher. Appearing as Sir Thomas More is Brother Bill Farrell, with Faye Fogal as Lady Alice More his wife, and Marie Mitchell as his daughter, Lady Margaret More.

The part of William Roper, the young lawyer who later marries Lady Margaret, is played by Thom Cranna. More's good friend, the Duke of Norfolk, who later is pressed into service by the King against him is played by Butch Hayes.

The part of Thomas Cromwell, More's chief antagonist and persecutor, is played by Ray Passer. Robin Nagy appears as Richard Rich, the young student, familiar to More's home, whose testimony is the undoing of More. King Henry VIII, the man who is responsible for nearly all of Sir Thomas' problems, is played by Neil Knapp, as is the part of Cardinal Thomas Wolsey, the man who, as Chancellor before More, met his downfall also as subject of the King's displeasure. The Spanish ambassador, Chapuys, who represents the King of Spain's interest with regard to his niece, Queen Catherine of Aragon, Henry's wife, is played by Peter Wolman. His attendant is played by Brian Benben. Sue Regan will appear as Catherine Anger, a woman whose attempt to bribe Sir Thomas falls through as evidence against his integrity as a judge. Tickets for all performances will be available at the door. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

PAW Casting Dates: 'Don Juan'

Casting for Moliere's "Don Juan," Performing Arts of Woodstock's next production, will be held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 19 and 20 at the Woodstock Town Hall from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m. both days.

Paul Cooper, a newcomer 'extraordinaire' to the area and longtime director and actor will direct "Don Juan" for the Performing Arts of Woodstock. It will be, PAW guarantees, like no other production of "Don Juan" ever seen. Cooper's enthusiasm, sweep and dedication are boundless and promises to ignite the spirit of his cast and crew, drawing them into a company that will enact a comic ritual to captivate audiences. "Don Juan is a guy who loves life too much," says Cooper.

All actors, trained and untrained, dancers, mimes, and technical people are invited to join the company. Additional information is available from Mrs. John LeFever in Woodstock or the Performing Arts of Woodstock.

Mrs. Gordon Keeley Heads Garden Club

Election of officers was on the agenda at the annual business meeting of the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens which took place October 9 at the home of Mrs. Francis Lawless.

Heading the organization for 1974-75 are: Mrs. Gordon Keeley, president; Mrs. Brendan Dooley, vice president; Miss Jane Ziegler, second vice president; Mrs. Frank Greco, treasurer; Mrs. Henry Breitenbach, secretary; Mrs. Wallace LeRoy, assistant secretary; Mrs. John Washburn, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Daniel Lamb, librarian. The nominating committee's recommendations were presented by Miss Ziegler.

It was announced that the annual luncheon will take place Wednesday, Oct. 23 at the Chateau Bellevue in Tannersville. Reservations and choice of menu should be given to Mrs. William Waldele or Mrs. Daniel Lamb.

Various reports were submitted by the members: Miss Ziegler, horticulture; Mrs. Robert Freer, conservation; Mrs. Richard Cyr, Mum Festival Flower Show which was sponsored by the Society and at which many Home Extension Units from the Saugerties area participated. As part of the Mum Festival, Club members are creating 15 arrangements over a three week period for five area banks. The arrangements will feature chrysanthemums. Mrs. Keeley gave a report on the Club's recent donation of evergreen trees, flowering shrubs and chrysanthemum plants to the Senior Citizens residence on Main Street. Favorite gourmet tips from the herb garden were also exchanged.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lawless and her committee: Mrs. Cyr, Mrs. LeRoy, and Mrs. Heismooriel.

hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:

In appreciation for all of yours, I would like to give a little hint.

When the years pile up and the eyesight dims, I have found it very helpful to keep a spool of thread and the bobbin I have filled, together (run a piece of string through both, and tie) so there's no question as to the color the next time I want to use it.

Also, I write the color of the thread on a card less frequently used thread when the shades are hard to tell apart.

GINGER

Dear Heloise:

I make those adorable shawls for my granddaughters, and I hit upon the most helpful way of making the tassels.

I wind the yarn around a book the size of the tassels.

On days when it's cool enough in the morning for an undershirt for your child, but then it warms up in the afternoon, you usually have to take off the shirt, then take off the undershirt, then put back on the shirt.

Instead of doing all this, I now put on the top shirt only, then top this with an undershirt, or better yet, one of those cut V-neck sleeveless summer shirts.

Now there's swinging in their own little "layered" look. And as it warms up, just off with the top shirt only, and your child still has a nice clean one on underneath.

They do! I've tried them! They are free too!

A Daily Reader

In view of the paper shortage we are now facing, one of the ways we housewives may help conserve paper is to store the newspapers we save by single sheets. That way they go further.

I take mine apart every morning and lay them flat, one by one, beneath the kitchen sink. This way they are ready to pull out and use one at a time to go under the kitty's feeding dish, or whatever.

I also store the newer paper on the bottom of the stack so when hubby remembers an article from a couple of days ago there is more chance of it not having been thrown out with the garbage.

Mrs. Frank Allen

The cut the yarn on end of the book.

The cover of the book I use overlaps the pages of the book. That way there is an open end to slide the shears through.

Worked like a top, believe it or not! I really liked to make the tassels after I found a slick way to do it.

Grandma Johnson

Dear Heloise:

I take a plastic lid from the top of a shortening can, cut the inside out, leaving the heavy outside rim.

Then I cut a circle of clean muslin or any other thin cloth (sorry, nylon net won't do) 1 1/4 inches larger than the outside of the lid.

I place this on top of the empty shortening can, place the plastic rim on top of muslin and strain used grease.

I label the can and keep it in the refrigerator with a whole plastic lid. Save the cut-out rim for reuse. Be sure to use separate cans for different kinds of grease.

Bacon grease is especially good in green beans.

Mrs. A. Rollins

Dear Heloise:

While cutting the bottoms off one-gallon plastic milk bottles I thought the bottoms would make a good picnic plate.

They do! I've tried them! They are free too!

Will Her Fiance Stay Clean?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, whom I'll call Betty, is 26, a college graduate and has never given us a moment's worry — until now. Betty wants to marry Ron, a 34-year-old college professor who has used LSD off and on for three years. She said Ron promised to give up drugs three months ago and she is sure he will keep his promise. (Betty has never used drugs.)

Betty's doctor advised her not to risk having children because of her fiance's history with LSD, so she intends to remain childless or adopt. Naturally, this hurts us deeply.

We think Betty should wait

and make Ron prove himself before marrying him. So far we have avoided meeting him, which has made Betty very cool and distant to us.

We don't want to attend her wedding, let alone foot the bill for it. Are we wrong?

DEAR PARENTS: Yes, I can understand your concern and heartache over the fact that your daughter has chosen to marry a man who has been into drugs, but at 26, she's an adult and is entitled to make her own decisions — right or wrong.

Meet Ron. It will improve your relationship with Betty immediately. Don't foot the bill for a wedding if you don't want to, but do attend. It's entirely possible that Ron will stay clean. I hope so. Think positive.

DEAR ABBY: Every time I buy my husband a gift, his mother says to me in front of company, "You didn't buy him anything. It was bought and paid for with HIS MONEY."

You see, I have never worked outside the house, but I am raising four children, and I keep a clean house and cook good meals and I've made the children's clothes and my own since they were 10.

What do you say? Do I earn any of the money I save from the household allowance he gives me, or not?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: You probably "earn" a lot more than you get.

DEAR ABBY: I took your advice, and it backfired. I asked you what to do about a couple my husband and I liked very much, but who always brought their kids over. (Their kids are very wild and don't listen to a thing their parents say, so consequently when they're here with their kids we never enjoy their company.)

You told me the next time we invited them over to say, "We'd like to see you, but please leave the children home this time."

Well, I did, and now we are minus two friends. The wife got highly insulted and told me not to call her again, and it also ruined the friendship between our husbands.

Now what should we do?

N. J. COUPLE

DEAR COUPLE: Rejoice! If your friendship was that fragile, it wasn't much of a friendship to begin with.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Dr. Lamb

Breast 'enlargers' don't work

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a young woman of fair appearance. My problem may not seem extremely bad, but it bothers me a lot. My breasts are quite small.

People have told me different ways to solve my problem. These include exercise and breast enlargers advertised in the back of magazines.

I have tried exercises and they didn't seem to work. I know it takes time, but I did do them for quite some time. Are the breast enlargers effective and are they safe? I am sure many women wonder about them.

DEAR READER — I receive an enormous amount of mail from women asking about small breasts and some asking about large breasts, and even some worrying about unequal breasts. So, you are not unusual.

The only exercises that are useful in increasing the bustline are those that increase the muscles of the chest wall. These muscles are the pectoral muscles under the breast itself.

Pushing the hands against each other and proper weight lifting-type exercises help to build these. When they enlarge, the breast, even if small, stands out a bit more.

Don't neglect the importance of posture. Rounded shoulders make even normal-sized breasts seem smaller. Shoulders back and a pleasing posture help to improve the appearance of the bustline.

I have looked into the various devices advertised for use in breast enlargement programs. Some of these are stimulating, like a skin bracer and the action may stimulate the skin just as a facial massage does, but none, and I mean NONE, of these or the creams do anything to actually enlarge the breast itself. They do enlarge the fat pockets of the people who are taking advantage of women's desire to be more attractive.

Some of the programs to enlarge breasts do have some good features, the exercises and the diet programs, but neither a device nor a cream is one of the good features.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can you advise me if a slant board is in any way beneficial to a woman as an aid in filling out wrinkles in the face and neck? I have often read articles stating that by lying on a slant board 10 minutes a day, the blood rushes to the head and helps to prevent the aging process.

DEAR READER — It has no useful effect. If you hang your head down you could get some swelling, just as you can get swelling of the feet and ankles from being on your feet all day. The effect would be temporary swelling. You can see a variation of this in the puffy appearance around the eyes so common to many on arising in the morning.

You can get some improvement in circulation in the skin, at least temporarily, by doing exercises, particularly facial exercises, or even bending exercises. You are familiar, I'm sure, with the flushed face after exercise. That is about the best you can hope for.

Improving the circulation through the skin by exercise may improve your complexion. I think facial muscle exercises are useful to a limited extent too, but a slant board will not improve circulation through the skin, on the contrary, it can result in stagnation and pooling of blood in the skin that leads to swelling.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 1531, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on balanced diet, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Balanced Diet" booklet. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
© 1974 The Emily Post Institute, Inc.
Distributed by the Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

Dear Mrs. Post: We are a middle-class family, and in our rural community the children always join the adults at the same meal. Due to my husband's occupation, he is often unable to be at home by 5 p.m., which is when we usually have supper. He has no way of knowing beforehand that he will be late. I enjoy cooking, baking and entertaining friends and their children as well as ours, but it's very difficult. I've tried having lunch for friends — that is, the women and their children — but it just isn't as nice.

I would appreciate any suggestions on how to entertain our friends.

Mrs. R.M. Dear Mrs. M.: Since dinner is always eaten early and includes children in your community, your friends would probably neither enjoy nor understand an invitation that specified a late meal for adults only. Your best bet is to entertain during the day on weekends. A Sunday "brunch" (light lunch around 12:00 or after church) or an early Sunday night supper are delightful ways to entertain, and surely your husband has Sundays off. Choose the hour that best suits you and your friends. If there are many chores to be taken care of on Sundays, perhaps the supper is the best solution.

What would you say about a young woman shaking hands when she enters the interviewer's office, and then when the interview is over and she is ready to leave? The consensus was that the personnel man should offer to shake hands with a male applicant but would shake hands with a woman only if she offers her hand first. Is this correct?

Ellen Dear Ellen: Yes, you were correct on both questions. When the interviewer and the applicant are the same sex, it is up to the former to initiate a handshake. But when the interviewer is a man and the applicant is a woman, the general rule that the woman makes the first move to shake hands holds true. However, should the man not wait, the girl should certainly respond quickly, or the job will go to the next, friendlier applicant.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen and its answer will be published in this column. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Shape Up

Overeating can accurately be described as an addiction. Don't underestimate your tendency to overeat. Facing the difficulty of dieting can help you deal with the problem better.

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS

... it tells you how

Making sauerkraut is not difficult if you wait until cool fall weather to tackle the job. All you need is an earthenware crock and a cabbage slicer. I bought both in an antique shop for $8.00.

Slice up your cabbage heads by sliding them over the blade (or blades) of the "kraut cutter." Then salt the shredded mass at the rate of 3-1/2 tablespoons of seasoning to five pounds of kraut.

Work up five pounds of cabbage at a time, mix in the salt and place the kraut in a good-sized farm crock. Keep mashing the kraut down in the container with a potato masher or similar tool (I use a baseball bat) and fill the crock to within five inches of its top. By then, juice should cover the kraut when you press it down hard with the potato masher, bat or whatever.

Cover the mass with several thicknesses of a clean cloth and top that with a plate that fits the circumference of the crock. Weight the plate down with a rock or other heavy object (a jar of water will do) to keep the kraut down under the juice.

A scum forms on the surface of the kraut juice as the cabbage ferments. Remove the deposit or it — as usually happens — the cloth soaks it up, change the fabric covering often.

When the weather's hot, the kraut may spoil. (I like a temperature of about 65° F. best for kraut making, though some prefer 70°.)

In about a month, the kraut will stop fermenting. You'll know it because the bubbles will stop coming up in the juice anymore... even when you tap the crock.

You can leave the sauerkraut right in the crock, if you can place it where the temperature remains no higher than 55 degrees and if you'll eat it all up before the end of winter. Otherwise, you should can the sauerkraut following the canning instructions in any cookbook.

Bobbin lace-making is a waning art

another avenue of expression in the bobbin.

Used in sets of 12, rarely more than 16, the bobbin was a tapered shape, four or five inches in length and of sufficient weight to hold the thread taut against the pattern.

These seem to be the only restrictions. Gertrude Whiting's book, "Old-time Tools and Toys of Needlework," (Dover Publishing Inc.), illustrates an amazing variety of materials and ornamentation.

Bobbins of Venetian glass look incredibly delicate and impractical. Those of bone, wood or ivory were often inlaid with spirals of silver, pewter, gold or brass. Bobbins handles often were inscribed with lines of poetry, the Lord's Prayer or the name of their owner.

Church window bobbins are hollowed and pierced so that one can see beads, resembling the Chinese puzzle balls, in the hollow center, providing additional weight.

Another way to weight the bobbins was with a jingle or spangle attached to the base. This loop-shaped device usually consisted of nine beads with the largest and more important placed in the center.

Not many bobbins have survived the machine age. Not only have the tools virtually disappeared but the sound of lace making as well. Gertrude Whiting describes it as "the softly clinking, tinkling bobbins, like the singing of a simmering teakettle, or like a lullabye gently hummed..."

Three Enter Guilty Plea

KINGSTON
Three inmates of Eastern Correctional Facility at Napanoch, who were indicted by the Ulster County Grand Jury on charges of alleged sodomy in the first degree, pleaded guilty Tuesday to sexual abuse in the first degree, a Class D felony.
The charges arose out of an alleged incident involving another inmate at the prison on Nov. 3, 1972.
Carlos Cummings, James Matthews and James Wite, as second felony offenders now face a minimum of two to four years in prison based on their plea.
Assistant District Attorney Michael Kavanagh prosecuted the case and Albert Lonsstein represented the three defendants, who are now housed at Green Haven State Prison.
Presiding Judge Raymond J. Mino set Dec. 13 as the date for sentencing.

Oakland Takes Lead, Two Breaks to One

OAKLAND (UPI) — Every body has been saying right along the Oakland A's and Los Angeles Dodgers are so evenly matched that the breaks will decide the 1974 World Series. After three games, the A's have gotten the breaks twice, so maybe it's no surprise they lead the Dodgers today two games to one.

Last Saturday in the opener, a throwing error by Dodger third baseman Ron Cey helped the A's to the run in the eighth inning that wound up as the margin of difference, and Tuesday night here, Joe Ferguson, switched from right field to catcher, committed two errors, to tie a World Series record and the A's won again 3-2.

So today, with the two-time defending World Champion A's holding the edge, lefty Ken Holtzman will pitch against better late, Messersmith. They were the first game pitchers, with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1928 and had a catcher made two errors stop, who will go back to playing right field in tonight's game with Steve Yeager taking over behind the plate.

Tuesday night, Jim "Catfish" Hunter, a 25-game winner during the regular season, went third and helped the A's to a 7-13 innings and wound up with his fourth World Series victory in as many decisions over three and a half seasons. Al Downing was the loser although he deserved a better fate.

Not since Jimmy Wilson of the likeable Dodger backstop, who will go back to playing right field in tonight's game with Steve Yeager taking over behind the plate.

His first error came in the third inning when he misplayed a ball hit by the A's Manager Alvin Dark called the victory in the third game a big one but he said tonight's fourth game "really is the important one."

In a seven game series, the fourth game, I think, is the big one," said Dark. "Of course, you have to win the third one first before you can start hitting and four walks in 3 2-3 base stealer with 54 this year.

Bert Campaneris followed with a smash behind third which Cey made a fine stop on kicking the ball around. Down in the hole 3-0 and solo and threw to first in time for homers by Bill Buckner in the out. But North, running on the pitch, made it to third as first baseman Steve Garvey hesitated making a return throw to Cey and it was too late by then.

Reggie Jackson, warned by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn before the game for his run-in with a sports writer the day before, was the next batter and he topped the ball in front of the plate. Ferguson took off after the ball, got his glove on it and then saw the ball trickle out for an error. North scored on the miscue and Bando went to second from where he scored on a single by Joe Rudi.

BOBBLE — Dodger catcher Joe Ferguson can't handle Reggie Jackson's tap in front of the plate as ball drops from his hands enabling Bill North to score from third with first run Tuesday night . . .

WHIFF — Then it's second baseman Davey Lopes with a mistake as he lets ball hit by Joe Rudi go under his glove and through into centerfield for a base hit scoring Sal Bando from second base. All of this happened in third inning of third World Series game . . .

CAN'T BELIEVE IT — And while Ferguson bobbles and Lopes whiffs, Dodger Manager Walter Alton looks on glumly from steps of dugout. Oakland won the game 3-2, to take a 2-1 lead in the Series. (UPI TELEPHOTOS)

Ferguson Won't Let Field Miscues Shake Him Up

OAKLAND (UPI) — It's a new day and that's exactly how Joe Ferguson is going to take it.

Just because his fielding lapses Tuesday tipped the delicate World Series balance in favor of the Oakland A's, the husky Los Angeles Dodger slugger is not going to try anything new or try something out of the ordinary.

After a fielding gem in the Series opener and a game-winning homer in the second, Ferguson hit the bottom of the roller coaster in the third contest when his record-tying two errors enabled the A's to take a 3-2 victory.

"You don't know what's going to happen when you go out to the ball park," he said in the Dodgers' quiet clubhouse. "I go out there every day with a positive attitude. That's the only way you can play this game."

With two outs—the second coming on a belly-flopping, back-handed stab by third baseman Ron Cey—and runners on first and third, Ferguson rushed out to pick up Reggie Jackson's 15-foot chopper in front of the plate and muffed the ball.

"I think I knocked it out myself when I tried to close the glove," Ferguson said in the third inning play. "I tried to pick it up between hops and it hit the webbing. I think it would have been a close play but I don't know if I could have thrown him (Jackson) out."

In the next inning, he tied the Series record for most errors by a catcher in a game when he let a throw from the outfield get away from him. It came, however, after the A's had scored their final run.

"I felt this would be my day," Ferguson said. "But it just didn't turn out that way. You know, baseball is a funny game. I had two good games and then this. But if the game was that easy, it wouldn't be fun."

Although he won't use Ferguson behind the plate today, Manager Walter Alton refused to downgrade the slugger.

"Don't sell Ferguson short," Alton said. "He's a good catcher. But Steve Yeager will catch Wednesday against the left-hander (Ken Holtzman)."

On the game's key play Alton said, "It was one of those balls where you either get it or don't. If he hung on to it, he would have thrown him out. Defense is probably the weakest spot on our club but we got here this way and I wouldn't change it now."

Ferguson didn't think the A's were particularly impressive.

"They got away with murder," he said. "They didn't earn any runs (one was earned). We gave them the game. We hit shots."

"But they definitely are a team of opportunity. We're the same kind of team. Strange, isn't it? All three games have been by 3-2 scores."

Alton, who decided to go with the more experienced Al Downing in the third game instead of Doug Rau, the regular third man in the pitching rotation, said he didn't know who he'd call on should the Series go beyond the fifth game.

Andy Messersmith is scheduled to start tonight and Don Sutton Thursday.

"I don't know yet," Alton said of the sixth game pitcher.

"I didn't think Al pitched that badly tonight. He was a little wild, but he didn't get hit that much we use him in the next two games."

Then in response to a question about the possible use of iron-man reliever Mike Marshall as a starter, the manager said, "He would get consideration. It depends on how much we use him in the next two games."

In the fourth, Dick Green, who tied a Series record by taking part in three double plays, walked leading off, went to second on a sacrifice by Hunter and scored on a single by Campaneris. Campy continued on to second when centerfielder Jimmy Wynn threw home and when the ball got away from Ferguson, with no one backing him up, he went to third.

A's Always Manage to Score

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's have been out-hit, out-slugged and perhaps even out-pitched so far in the 1974 World Series.

Everything but outplayed.

"We scored a bunch of runs tonight," Manager Alvin Dark said with a grin after the 3-2 victory Tuesday night which left the A's one up on the Los Angeles Dodgers after three games.

"This club manages to score enough runs," he added in describing the world championship team he inherited from Dick Williams.

The A's scratched for all three of their runs off Los Angeles starter Al Downing while the Dodgers' runs came on long homers by Bill Buckner and Willie Crawford.

Through three games, the Dodgers have four homers to the A's one. Three of Oakland's eight runs have been unearned.

"I'm glad I hit a homer my first time up in the Series," said Reggie Jackson. "It took the home run pressure off me and it won't bother me if I don't hit another."

A high bouncer about 15 feet in front of home plate was enough for Jackson Tuesday night. Catcher Joe Ferguson, the Dodgers' right fielder in the first two Series games, bobbled the third-inning chance and, with two out, Bill North scored from third for the game's first run.

Fans Sue Charlie O.

OAKLAND (AP) — Now the Charley Finley's fans are suing 60,000 members' jobs might be affected by such a move.

They said in the suit that a suit filed against the league by Seattle, King County and the American League President Lee MacPhail was acting as a middleman in arranging the franchise swap.

Both Finley and MacPhail denied it. Finley vehemently and MacPhail in something of an amused tone.

"The same things were said this summer after I talked to the 1969 transfer of the Seattle Finley were about 20 fans, the Seattle people," MacPhail Pilots to Milwaukee after one County Supervisor Tom Bates said, referring to a meeting in season. Baseball wants to avoid and the Alameda County Cen-

Seattle with city officials. "But that litigation, we have never mentioned the A's or any other existing team."

'It Won't Happen Again'

OAKLAND (UPI) — Reggie Jackson, who enlivened the Oakland A's off-day workout two days ago by shouting at a sportswriter, has promised baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn "it won't happen again."

Kuhn says it better not.

An aide to Kuhn warned Jackson Tuesday night, before the third Series game between the A's and the Los Angeles Dodgers, that the slugging rightfielder risked a suspension as a result of his run-in. "The commissioner doesn't want anything like this ever to happen again," Joe Reichler, an aide to Kuhn, told Jackson. "It does, there's going to be a problem, a very serious problem, and I think you know what I mean."

Jackson told Reichler to tell Kuhn "not to worry."

"As far as I'm concerned, everything is over," Jackson said.

The warning from Kuhn came as the result of the run-in between Jackson and Murray Olderman, 52, a sports columnist for a feature syndicate. Jackson directed a stinging denunciation at Olderman when he saw him on the field Monday.

An article written by Olderman in the October issue of Sport Magazine had drawn Jackson's ire. The thrust of the story was that Jackson has not been overly successful in trying to assume and retain leadership of the Oakland team.

Ford, Nixon Can't Make It

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley made unsuccessful bids to add presidential timber to the World Series.

Finley, in telephone conversations, asked both President Ford and former President Richard M. Nixon to throw out the first ball in Oakland's series with Los Angeles. Both refused but asked for rain checks.

Ford, in Kansas City for a televised address to the nation, Tuesday night said he "appreciated" the invitation but due to "prior commitments" could not accept. However, he told Finley he'd take "a rain check for next year."

The Oakland owner said he did not know whether his club would make the 1975 series. Ford, after watching the first inning of the third game on television, said he felt Oakland would repeat next year.

Nixon said from his home in San Clemente, Calif., that his health prevented him from attending this year's series, but he'd like to make it next year. He is recovering from an attack of phlebitis.

Hammer Heading for Brewers?

Hank Aaron Plans to Go Quietly

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

OAKLAND (AP) — Henry Aaron is almost certainly headed for Milwaukee, but he plans to go quietly.

No blasts at his employers, the Atlanta Braves. No bitter recriminations. No hassles over money, broken promises and tokenism.

The 40-year-old home run king, his future still officially in the air, clarified his position somewhat Tuesday in a whirlwind visit to the area of baseball's blue-ribbon spectacle, the World Series.

He spent the time shilling for television sets. He didn't watch a game although his life and fabulous home run feat are featured in the official Series program.

"I am going back to Atlanta Wednesday night to talk to Mr. Donahue," the slugger said. "I owe that to him and to the Braves. Then I can decide on my future."

Dan Donahue is the president of the Braves, having taken over the policy-making duties from Bill Bartholomay, chairman of the board who made the original deal with Aaron.

During his hit-and-run stop, Aaron spent his time in suburban stores answering customers' questions for the electronics company which a year ago signed the home run king to a five-year, $1-million contract.

The firm had announced that Aaron would be available Tuesday for a formal press conference, open to the hundreds of writers here for the World Series.

The press conference was abruptly cancelled.

It is believed that the cancellation came as the result of Aaron's threat after the regular season to "lower the boom on the Braves, tell it like it is and reveal that the Braves had been guilty of broken promises."

The electronics company is supposed to have told Hank to cool it. Controversy doesn't help sell TV sets.

"I have no quarrel with the Braves," Aaron said. "They have been good to me."

Still, he announced publicly after "unretiring" in ceremonies at his final appearance in Atlanta that he would like to close out his final days in Milwaukee, where he broke in as a rookie in 1954.

Meanwhile, Milwaukee Brewers' owner Bud Selig told friends that he would like to have Aaron, whom he always had admired.

Atlanta, under Bartholomay, reportedly promised Aaron a five-year contract at close to half his $200,000 playing salary to stay on in a public relations capacity.

But Aaron's connection with the electronics firm obviated public appearances for anyone but it.

The Braves had no further need for Aaron as a player. The National League doesn't have the designated hitter rule. Also, Atlanta did not want to continue such a high salary for token reasons.

Although Aaron said he has not talked with the Brewers, Milwaukee officials have made overtures through Henry's lawyer. The Braves have approved such negotiations.

The inside information is that Aaron will join the Brewers at around $100,000 as a designated hitter with an option to move to the front office.

NEARS DECISION — Home run king Hank Aaron, in Oakland filming a TV commercial, tells a newsmen that "I've not signed anything yet, and I don't know what I'm going to do," concerning his rumored move from the Atlanta Braves to the Milwaukee Brewers. (UPI)

Winner Isn't Losing Faith

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — Charley Winner wants the world to know. The New York Jets are down but they're not out.

The Jets were humiliated 24-0 by the New England Patriots in their home opener Sunday and Winner's screams could be heard through the locked steel door following the embarrassing

But Tuesday he said that was all in the past.

"Last week is a game of the past," Winner said. "There is nothing I can do or the players can do to bring it back. Its gone. We just want to show people this week we're not as bad as we looked Sunday."

The Jets, winners of only one of five starts, could not have asked for a better opponent. They face the Baltimore Colts.

Pearson Leads NFC Receivers

NEW YORK (UPI) — A year ago Drew Pearson was a "walk-on" at the Dallas Cowboys training camp — his only asset being his famous name.

But today, Pearson, who was named after the late Washington columnist, is leading National Football Conference receivers in passes caught (30) and total yardage (518). Not bad for a guy who was passed over by all 26 clubs in all 17 rounds of the 1973 pro draft.

The unbeaten Minnesota Vikings have a stronghold on most of the National Conference statistics released by the NFL Tuesday. Quarterback Fran Tarkenton is the leading passer with a 93.8 overall rating; running back Chuck Foreman leads in touchdowns with eight, and Nate Wright, the Vikings' able defensive back, is the interception leader with six.

In the American Conference, the Buffalo Bills due of O.J. Simpson and Joe Ferguson headed up the rushing and passing statistics respectively while Miami's Larry Csonka remained the top leader.

Perfect Honeymoon

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) —

There are better places to spend the second night of a honeymoon. But since Dave Lewis is paid to play defense for the New York Islanders, he spent his at the Nassau Coliseum.

Lewis was married Monday, and among the first words to his new wife after "I do," were, "Don't expect much from the hockey game Tuesday."

Actually, there was little reason to expect much from the contest. The Islanders were going against the Montreal Canadiens, whom they tied 5-5 in last Wednesday's opener but had beaten only once in the 11 games the teams had played.

Let's not talk about the past, though," pleaded defenseman Gerry Hart. "This year, it's a clean slate."

And the third-year Islanders went on to prove just that, beating the Canadiens 6-3 Tuesday night.

The bridegroom had the winning goal. He handuffed goaltender Bunn Larocque with a 65-foot slap shot at 6:39 of the third period to break a 3-3 tie and lift New York to its second victory in three games this season.

Very suddenly, the unheralded Islanders are at the top of their division, which includes their cross-town rivals the New York Rangers and the Philadelphia Flyers, who won the Stanley Cup last season.

On the other hand, the loss was the third non-winning game for the venerable Canadiens, who have tied twice.

"You like to get off to a good start," said Montreal Coach Scotty Bowman, "but it's a little early to push any panic buttons."

In other NHL games Tuesday night, the Washington Capitals and Los Angeles Kings battled to a 1-1 tie and the Vancouver Canucks downed the St. Louis Blues 6-4. In the other WHA game, the Winnipeg Jets whipped the Vancouver Blazers 6-2.

Former Toronto Maple Leaf teammate Paul Henderson scored one of the Toros' other goals. Three of Winnipeg's five European imports scored goals in the Jets' season-opening triumph.

Yvon Labre gave the Capitals a 1-0 lead at 4:35 of the middle period, but then Dan Maloney scored for Los Angeles to tie the game. Dennis Kearns and Paulin Bordeleau scored power play goals within 69 seconds to lift the Canucks over the Blues.

Still, the Islanders were in command almost from the start. Defenseman Denis Potvin scored the first of his two goals after just 1:32 had been played.

Gary Howatt made it 2-0, then Potvin tallied again for a 3-0 lead late in the first period. The first of Pete Mahovich's two goals, and his fourth of the young season, cut the New York lead to two as the session ended.

Montreal came back to tie in the second period on goals by Guy Lapointe and Mahovich.

We lost our cool in that period," noted New York Coach Al Arbour. "We were running all over the place. When we got backward in the dressing room afterward, I just told them to come back and play their own game."

They did exactly that, with Lewis and rookie Bob Bourne scoring to make it 5-3 with 5:24 left in the game. But it was 5-3 New York last Wednesday when the Canadiens rallied for two goals in the closing minutes to salvage a tie.

"I was hoping lightning wouldn't strike twice," Arbour said.

It didn't. The Islanders survived a delay of game penalty called with 3:50 remaining and Bob Nystrom scored an empty net goal to seal the victory.

In Toronto, the honeymoon began between the World Hockey Association's Toros and NHL defector Frank Mahovich. The "Big M" made a big splash in his WHA debut with three goals that carried Toronto to a 6-2 victory over the New England Whalers.

Every Team Has a Chance As WFL Enters Week 16

By The Associated Press

Embroided in court suits, rumors of a player boycott and missing paychecks, the World Football League starts its 16th week of play tonight with every team still with a mathematical shot at a playoff berth.

Admittedly, two teams, the Shreveport Steamers and the Portland Storm, are facing an uphill battle for any chance of a post-season shot at the first WFL title. Shreveport and Portland have identical records of 4-10-1.

The Central Division leader, Memphis, on the other hand, is assured a playoff berth with that 13-2 record, as is Birmingham with 12-3.

The Hawaiians, 6-9, are at Portland tonight, while Shreveport is at Philadelphia, 6-9.

In other games, the Chicago Fire, 7-8, is at Charlotte, 9-6; Birmingham is at Southern California, 11-4, and Florida, 11-4, is at Memphis, Jacksonville and Detroit have been suspended from the WFL for the remainder of the season after becoming financially insolvent.

The WFL reportedly is attempting to move the Florida Blazers' Oct. 30 home game against the Birmingham Americans to Birmingham. The league has already rescheduled a Florida home game against Charlotte to North Carolina as the Blazers' attendance is averaging only 14,879 a game.

But a 14,879 court injunction has forced the WFL to return the Charlotte game to Orlando, and an Orlando attorney called the latest WFL effort to move the Birmingham game a "direct violation of the court order."

The Blazers finally did get a paycheck, however. And the league pledged to scrape together another paycheck by Friday.

"This takes the immediate strain and pressure off," said Florida Coach Jack Pardee. "This puts our minds back on football and Memphis. Without this money, it would have been tough to go on much longer."

Portland is playing without pay. But Storm General Manager Ron Mix and tackle Sam Silas, the Storm's player representative, denied reports that there would be a player boycott this week.

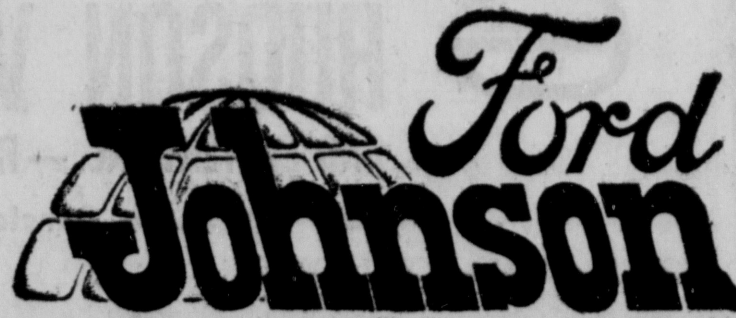

The Florida-Memphis clash will match the WFL's only 1,000-yard rushers — J.J. Jennings of Memphis with 1,140 yards and Tommy Reamon of Florida with 1,046.

The Hawaiians have won four of their last five games and could possibly capture a playoff berth. The Hawaiians' attack is run by veteran quarterback Randy Johnson while Portland depends heavily on quarterback Pete Beathard.

Philadelphia is hoping to rebound after dropping three of its last four outings. The Bell moves on the passing arm of King Corcoran, who has thrown for 2,861 yards on 224 completions. The Shreveport Steamers scored a season-high 23 points in its loss last week to Southern California.

Charlotte officials are looking for a second consecutive sellout crowd of 25,133 when the Chicago Fire come to town. Charlotte defeated Chicago two weeks ago 41-30.

Marlboro to Continue On 'Week-to-Week' Basis

It looks like Marlboro High School's varsity and junior football teams will continue to play out their 1974 schedules. Athletic Director Jack Kroh said today Marlboro will play "week to week" and hinted that if the teams are hit by many more injuries and illnesses they would probably discontinue operation for the remainder of the season.

Kroh was to meet again today with school Principal John O'Donnell.

The problem at Marlboro is,

Only 1,500 Tickets Sold For Ali-Foreman Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — There may be, if you believe the television people, 300-million persons watching Muhammad Ali fight George Foreman, but the "live" audience in Kinshasa at 3 a.m., Zaire time, Oct. 30 may be all but lost in the 100,000 seat stadium where the ring is set up.

Njoli Balanga of the Zaire government admitted Tuesday that, up to a week ago, only 1,500 seats had been sold for the heavyweight title match, but at fancy prices.

There are 6,000 "ringside" seats on sale for $250 each, with 1,000 seats immediately behind them at $180, followed by 2,500 at $100. All others are bargain priced at $10. Of tickets sold, 1,000 were of the $250 variety,

Billie Jean Slowing Down

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Billie Jean King says her tennis game isn't what it used to be. "I'm not as quick as I once was," she said after defeating Betty Stove of The Netherlands in straight sets Tuesday night in the first round of a $100,000 women's tennis tournament.

"My style of play has always depended on my ability to move well," said Ms. King, who has undergone knee surgery. Then she added with a laugh, "But I haven't been as quick now for the last five years."

Ms. King said her play in the 6-4, 6-2 victory Tuesday night was only so-so.

"I don't think I hit the ball early enough or was very penetrating on my serve."

The second-seeded Ms. King broke through Miss Stove's service twice in each set as she used her volleying game to good effect.

LPGA Plans Qualifying

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Ladies Professional Golf Association said Tuesday it will conduct its fifth qualifying school session, Jan. 22-24, 1975, at the Kendale Lakes Country Club in Miami, Fla.

The school determines which women golfers earn player's cards and the right to compete on the LPGA circuit.

The session consists of playing a 54-hole tournament and attending special orientation and rules classes. The number of players receiving accreditation will be determined by the low scores.

To be eligible for the qualifying school, a golfer must have a United States Golf Association handicap of three or less. This year, 22 women golfers earned their players cards by successfully completing their LPGA qualifying school courses.

Applicants should apply to the Ladies Professional Golf Association, 1776 Peachtree Street, N.W., Atlanta, Georgia, 30309. Deadline for filing an application is Jan. 10.

Ulster Blanks Rockland, 5 to 0

STONE RIDGE whitewash though he only needed three saves to get it. Vizaray was of course not totally discouraged. "All in all it was a victory and I'm very pleased with that," he said. "The pressure is on us and it's noticeable, but this squad is different than the ones in the past. There seems to be a determination to go out and prove they deserve that number one ranking."

Willie Navas must feel that way. The freshman nailed his sixth goal of the young season in the second half off an unselfish assist from Mario Oliva to boost the Senators out to an unmountable 4-0 lead. James Zapatier arrived at the right time to blast a shot into the Rockland net.

Ulster flattened out after running up its big lead and played scoreless the rest of the way. Vizaray, however, had particular praise for veteran Franklin Hill who "excelled everywhere."

Ulster now has three wins and a tie in the Mid Hudson Conference and has scored 12 goals while allowing none in its last three games. Two difficult tests before the next MHC contest against Sullivan at home next week.

NP Defeat Tightens UCAL Soccer

KINGSTON even before it touched the ground. "It was a real beauty," said OCS Coach Ron Valle. It was also one of 12 shots Stoothoff sent toward the Pine Bush goal during the game. At 9:30 of the final quarter, he found the mark again of a pass from Jim Refell.

Stoothoff, who plays a little bit of everything for the Indians, now has four goals for the season.

"I said we were shooting for third place before the season," said Valle. "We're still taking them one at a time."

Coleman didn't overwhelm Rondout, but Statesmen coach Elliott Poggi-Asare thought his team might have been a little tired.

"I thought we played better of the first period, but the Statesmen rallied to erase the deficit. Chris Bentley tied the game before the half, then Joe Schell banged the winner home at 11:00 of the third quarter. Coleman ran up a 22-8 edge in shots on goal.

The Statesmen will host New Paltz in a key match Thursday. Poggi-Asare said, "I think we're going to beat them."

There Should Be No Losers in Tax Suit

ATLANTA (UPI) — From the point of view of both the Internal Revenue Service and owners of professional sports franchises, there should be no losers in a complicated tax suit being argued in federal court.

A minority stockholder in the Atlanta Falcons franchise has filed the suit challenging the refusal of the IRS to allow a $48,000 deduction for depreciation of the players the club obtained to field their first team in 1966.

The owners are trying to establish that pro football players are like machinery a businessman buys when he opens a shop. The owners say they should get a bigger tax break for depreciation of the plaintiff's first expert witness, in several minutes of serious discussion about why former Atlanta punter Billy Lothridge hadn't been used as a running back by the Falcons as he had by Dallas.

Schramm testified for more than six hours Tuesday on his opinion of the monetary value of the NFL veterans and college draft choices the Falcons used to stock their first team.

Schramm estimated the total dollar value of Atlanta's first team, with individual players worth $50,000 to $250,000, to be $7.3 million, $400,000 less than Laird Jr. claims in the suit. Five Smiths Inc., the corporate owner of the Falcons, said in the suit that it had allocated $7.7 million of the $8.5 million purchase price of the franchise for depreciating contracts of its first 42 players for five years.

The individual worth was pushed up in part by the high prices being paid to draftees in the dollar war going on then between the National and American Football Leagues, Schramm said.

"We all thought we had crystal balls in those days," Cowboys official said. "That's where we were then. The teams were actually paying this kind of money...just to stay in competition with other teams. It's hard to figure out why people pay this kind of money but that's how the market was at that time."

Demand Qualifies

Skip Demand of Kingston has qualified for the finals of the Hudson Valley Match Game Championship tournament at 9G Lanes.

Demand defeated Joe Liebhart, 210-194, to join Wayne Hildenbrand in the run for prize money totaling $1,000.

It's possible that the Grand Champ could be a woman. This week's high qualifier was Karen Woodvine, bowling a 606 scratch, 732 handicap total.

Three of the eight weekly prize winners were women. Demand led the way followed by Liebhart, Vera Liebhart, Joyce Ashline, Mike Hall, Tad Boyce, Dave Mergandahl, and Woodvine.

Qualifying squads and finals are held weekly at 9G Lanes under the direction of PEA member Al North. Reservations are accepted for qualifying (open to men and women) Tuesday at 9:30 p.m., Thursday at 11 p.m., and Saturday at 12:30, 2, 3:30, and 5 p.m.

Further information may be obtained by contacting North at home in Kingston or at 9G Lanes.

KINGSTON Mid-Hudson Gun Club is forming a Thursday night shooting league. A meeting this Thursday will determine what type of program will be followed.

All interested shooters are requested to attend the meeting which will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the club, North Ohioville Rd., between Rifton and New Paltz.

The MHGC will host an ATA Trapshoot Sunday. Events will include 16 yard trap, handicap, and doubles. Turkeys and hams will be awarded as prizes.

Further information should be obtained from John Sinclair at the club, or by attending the Thursday night meeting.

The club's winter hours are Wednesday and Thursday from 6 to 10 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Pair Appeals

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP). — Defensive end Clifton Alapa and defensive halfback John Tyler appealed a dean of students' recommendation Monday that they be suspended from Arizona State University because of an alleged assault in a dormitory Sept. 24.

Alapa, 19, and Tyler, 17, will remain in classes and on the football team pending their appeal to a university trial board, according to the ASU Code of Conduct.

Alapa and Tyler were involved in a dispute with another student in which the student suffered a cut hand when he was pushed or fell through a window in his dormitory room.

Bushmen Take Lead In 'B' Division

KINGSTON Only 43 seconds separated five Pine Bush High School cross country runners at the finish line Tuesday, and that parade was enough to offset the first place finish by Lorenzo Simmons of New Paltz and vault the Bushmen into first place in the UCL's B Division with a 20:35 victory.

Pine Bush now has three straight wins to lead the 3-1 Huges. In other meets, Mark Woodward led Onteora to a 15-48 victory over Rondout, and Walkill notched its second triumph by a 25-30 count over Liberty. In the A Division, Coleman remained the leader by whipping Fallsburgh, 15-40; Red Hook stopped Highland, 15-46; and Marlboro downed Ellenville, 20-35.

Bushman coach Dan Brown was hoping for a third place league finish before the season began but his sights may now be set a little higher. Gary Schouten trailed Simmons' 12:42 winning pace by only 15 seconds as the Bushmen showed surprising team strength.

Al Schmidt, Greg Allen, Sam Horton and Wayne Shurter all displaced Charlie Bevier, usually a dependable No. 2 to Simmons.

Woodward led wire to wire as the Onteora squad convincingly turned back the home-standing Ganders. The Indian anchor man ran 13:16.

The scores:

to lead four teammates to the finish. Rondout's Bob DeFelicas was sixth at 14:11 to top Rondout.

Onteora is 2-2 in dual meets while Rondout slipped to 0-3.

Walkill, a team attempting to build a future, raised its record to an encouraging 2-2 despite a 1-2 finish by Liberty's Mark Berry and Jason Wach. The Panther pack was led by Kevin Miller's 16:52 third place and ended with a 17:33 seventh by Norm Eaton.

Coleman continued to dominate the opposition, and Eric Schroeter turned in his second impressive performance within a week as he raced to a first place 12:06 at this home course. The Statesmen allowed the Comets only one position in the top ten, an eighth place to Don Bennett, then sewed up five more spots after that.

Coleman which has reestablished itself as a strong favorite to repeat as UCL champion, is now 4-0 with the last three victories coming on shutouts. Tom Nee, Rich Geomek, Jim Farrell and Jim Rioux did this week's scoring.

Mark Gravino breezed to another victory as Red Hook stayed in contention with its third win against one defeat. The Raider soph clocked 11:03 to lead teammate Mike Mahoney to 37 seconds.

Sawyer Harriers Sweep Kingston, Spackenkill

SAUGERTIES They're in the same league so it really shouldn't be special, but any time a varsity team from tiny Saugerties High School manages to defeat one from larger Kingston High that's news.

The Sawyer cross-country team played giant-killers Tuesday, beating their DCSL rivals, 22-34, on a triangular meet at Saugerties' three mile course.

Kingston gained a split by beating Spackenkill, 81-39. Saugerties also topped the Spartans, 15-44, to sweep the day's action.

"My kids have shown a lot of improvement," noted Saugerties coach Ron Buzon, whose team lost to Kingston at Dietz Stadium earlier this season. "Especially improved are the three kids in the middle of the pack, Ron Sickler, Tom Miller, and Jay Harris."

While it was that trio which clinched the Saugerties sweep, Dennis Holmquist and Tom Brand were the two guys who got it started by finishing one-two. Holmquist was the winner by a wide margin of 22 seconds over his mate. Dennis' time was 15:55.

Dave Trast led the way for Kingston with a third place clocking of 16:28.

The Maroons were without Chuck Lewis and Jay Rogers, but Rogers wasn't at the first meet between the two schools and while Lewis' presence would have helped KHS Tuesday, it would not necessarily have altered the final outcome.

Following Trast for KHS was Robbie Newkirk, who was fourth in 16:37. Sickler, Miller and Harris then clinched it by taking the next three spots. Harris tying KHS' Joe Olender.

Steve Church was 10th to lead Spackenkill.

The wins lifted Saugerties' record in the league to 4-4. The Sawyers are 5-4 overall. Kingston is 4-2 in the DCSL, 5-2 overall.

Saugerties is at John Jay along with Ketcham next Tuesday. Kingston hosts Arlington and Lourdes that same afternoon.

The results:

Kingston 18 — Spackenkill 39

Koola Returns To ASU

ALBANY

Former Rondout Valley High School and Ulster County Community College basketball player Pete Koola of Rosendale is one of five returnin lettermen among the candidates for the 1974-75 Albany State University varsity team.

Koola, a 6-4 senior, is the only returning forward on Coach Dick Sauers' club, and the veteran Albany mentor is expecting the Ulster County Pistol to increase his production both in scoring and rebounding this season.

Koola averaged 5.6 points per outing as a part-time center game and 4.5 rebounds an after becoming eligible at mid-a revamped open-middle offense, year when the Danes go with season last year.

Sauers, beginning his 20th season at Albany, has a career record of 305-140, best in New York-New England, and is

The entire stating frontcourt in the country with 300 or more has graduated from that team was 17-8. Sauers never has had wins. Last year's Albany club year's leading scorer and rebounder, and center Harry Johnson.

Leading candidates among the newcomers in the forecourt include Tom Morris (South Glens Falls), a 6-4 junior transfer from Merrimack; 6-2 soph Bob Audi (Colonie), the leading scorer and rebounder on last year's 17-3 ASU JUNIOR VARSITY; Dave Lanahan (Colonie), a 6-4 JV product; and 6-2 freshman Marcus Glass (Buffalo).

The Danes are set at guard, having played three freshmen and a junior there last year. Sophs Ed Johnson (Buffalo) and Gary Trevett (Scotia) both saw action in all 25 games, while soph Mike Suprunowicz (Schenectady) and Rich Kapner (Valley Stream) were sidelined at times by injuries.

Also battling for varsity roster spots are Mel Brown (Gloversville), a 5-10 junior guard, and Mike Valenti (Oneida), a 5-11 soph.

The Danes open their season Dec. 4 at New Paltz State. The home debut comes three nights later against Cortland. Both are State University of New York Athletic Conference games.

Highland Jayvees Down Onteora For Third Win

HIGHLAND

Highland High School's junior varsity football team upped its record to 3-1 last week with a 14-6 victory over Onteora.

After a scoreless first quarter, Highland broke the ice in the second session as Steve Baines ran in from 52 yards out. The conversion run failed.

The Blues added another TD in the third quarter as Baines took a 15 yard pass from Kevin Colabella. John Eichler ran in for the two points and it was 14-0.

Onteora rallied later in the third quarter with quarterback Ben Hill completing a TD march by diving in from the one. The PAT kick missed.

Highland outstruck Onteora, 136-59, and outpassed the Indians, 78-2.

Onteora's record dropped to 2-2.

Highland visits New Paltz Friday while Onteora is home to Ellenville.

The summaries:

Highland 0 6 8 0-14

Onteora 0 0 6 0-6

The scoring:

HHS-Baines, 53 yd. run (run failed)

HHS-Baines, 15 yd. pass from Colabella (Eichler run)

OCS-Hill, 1 yd. run (kick failed)

OCS Girls Triumph

NEW PALTZ

Onteora High School beat New Paltz, 20, in girls field hockey action with Ann Schroeder scoring both goals.

"Despite the score, the game was dominated by the tenacious Onteora offensive line which was in control of the ball more than 75 per cent of the time," said OCS coach Carol Okoren.

"Wings Sue Schlegel and Ellen Sheehan were consistently effective in carrying the ball downfield and centering passes near the goal," she continued. "Good hustle, effective switches and heads-up stickwork on both ground and aerial balls by the middle attack players, Ann Schroeder, Colleen Duffy, and Mollie Klinger, fortified the line."

Coach Okoren also cited the defensive play of Cindy Baldus, Kathy Despres, Debbie Tetta, and Ann Louise Garrison. Onteora outshot New Paltz, 16-2.

The OCS girls now have a 42 record, 21 in the Ulster County Athletic League.

Trout Forum Set Saturday

KINGSTON

Nationally famous fly tiers and fishermen will be featured in the Catskill Mountains Trout Forum sponsored by the Catskill Mountains Chapter of Trout Unlimited Saturday, at the Ramada Inn.

The guest list and their topics of discussion:

Art Flick — The Classic Catskill Ties.

Leonard Wright Jr. — Tying and Fishing the Caddis Flies.

Al Caucci and Bob Nastasi

— Comparahatch Patterns. Larry Solomon — Caddis Fly Patterns.

Eric Leiser — Fly Tying Materials, Selection and Usage.

Fly tying discussions, demonstrations, Mayfly slide presentations, Fly pattern theory, fishing the Caddis Flies and a film on building a Bamboo Fly Rod are among some of the activities planned for the day.

In addition, Eric Leiser will demonstrate the proper selection of dry fly necks, and materials and discuss the dying of materials. All authors will autograph copies of their books which will be available for sale at the show.

Proceeds of the forum will go to the chapter's legal defense fund, which the chapter has set up to help finance whatever legal assistance may be needed to preserve the Catskill trout fishery.

For ticket information contact Catskill Mountain Chapter of Trout Unlimited, P.O. Box 285, Lake Katrine, or any member.

High Voltage means strong performance in the coldest weather. Connectors deliver more initial starting power than an otherwise identical battery with standard over-cold connectors.

Battery Guarantee

If battery proves defective due to electrical failure and will not hold a charge, we will replace it free of charge within 90 days of purchase; after 90 days we will replace it with a new battery charging only for the period of ownership. Your monthly charge for ownership will be computed by dividing the current selling price at the time of return less trade-in, by the number of months of guarantee.

Check the specifications when you replace your battery. Especially important is cold cranking capacity which measures a battery's ability to start a car in any weather; and reserve capacity for handling extra accessories.

Another Record-Setting Year at Monticello

LEON GREENBERG

MONTICELLO the summer, as track president For Monticello Raceway, it Leon Greenberg continued was the year of the 1:58.4 mile and the million dollar handle. It was the year of Catello Manzi and Del Biccum, the track's top drivers, and of Benitas Byrd, Tara Row Gil, Wico Dares, and Mountain Skipper, who all scored two minute miles.

Promotionally, it was the year of Big Brother's Discotheque, the Children's Playground, Chuck Berry, The 5th Dimension, Tony Orlando, and others on a nightly basis throughout the top mainly with a collection, the year, as Eldon Harner took two-minute miles at Monticello. Saturday, racing every week of veteran pacers and a wild Tara Row Gil to victory in The New York Sire Stakes night and Sunday afternoons. Here 1:59.3 and George Berkner's came to town in July, and The track needed the extra time was one driver who had no Benitas Byrd scored in 1:59.4. Sullivan County hosted such fine to accommodate the rock groups There had been only one such performers as John Patterson who visited Monticello as part of Greenberg's heralded "merger" of sports and entertainment.

and Billy Haughton's Meadow Two Italian-American nights, an intercollegiate driving championship, and the popular Winsday Wednesday helped make the promotional season as spicy and interesting as racing. Monticello reopens for a six week winter meet on Thanksgiving night, November 28.

Manzi triumph aboard Terrys Faith. The 24 year old reinsman went on from there to enjoy the finest season of any Monticello driver in over a decade. Manzi broke Jim Grundy's record for triumphs at a meet, distanced John Gilmour for dash-winning honors, and incredibly, finished second to Biccum in the percentage standings. No one has done better since 1962, when an up-and-coming Carmine Abbatiello took both the dash and percentage crowns.

Biccum, who alone prevented total Manzi hegemony, reached the top mainly with a collection, the year, as Eldon Harner took two-minute miles at Monticello. Saturday, racing every week of veteran pacers and a wild Tara Row Gil to victory in The New York Sire Stakes night and Sunday afternoons. PREVENTIVE MEDICINE—"Preventive medicine" is the best way to describe the newly installed padding in the Port Ewen School gym. Admiring the work are Port Ewen PTO officers Vic Doehler (left) vice president; Mrs. Richard Larson, president; and Mrs. Harold Sturrock, treasurer. Student Warren Allica is doing more than admiring the padding; he's testing it. The padding was funded by 1973-74 PTO projects, and is aimed at increased use of the gym while lowering the injury rate. To date the organization has spent more than $7,000 toward that aim. British Troops Surround Ruins Of Ulster Camp BELFAST (UPI) — British troops surrounded the smoking ruins of the Maze internment camp today to bar a mass breakout by rioting political prisoners who attacked guards and set buildings on fire.

The Northern Ireland Office, the British government agency overseeing the province, said the prison warden ordered "troops flown in by helicopter from various parts of the province to avert a mass breakout."

A British statement reported no contact before dawn between prisoners and troops ringing the internment camp, located six miles south of Belfast.

"Things have now quieted somewhat, the Northern Ireland Office said early this morning. "A further statement will be made later today."

The rebellion broke out Tuesday evening in a Maze compound for suspected Irish Republican Army prisoners. The uprising quickly spread to other compounds when security men tried to transfer the rebellious convicts.

Authorities said fire units rushed to the camp after prisoners set their huts on fire, but the rebels kept the firemen from putting out the blaze.

Your Astrograph

Thursday, October 17

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Nothing will be gained if you throw cold water on something your mate is enthusiastic about, even if you don't see eye-to-eye on the issue.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You are not going to be as cooperative with a friend as this person was with you. Her feelings will be hurt but she won't show it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll not be as productive today as you should be. The loss of momentum will be due to a division of your attention between pleasure and responsibility.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you find yourself in the company of one who displeases you, don't show it in a manner that will spoil the fun for others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Put on a convincing countenance even though you may feel very doubtful about a position you've taken on an issue another is calling you on.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's best for you in the long run if you take care of obligations first. Then use whatever remains to gratify your present whims.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be careful your generosity isn't exploited by one who is a much better taker than a giver. Have a genteel refusal ready in case you're put-upon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you let too many self-doubts slip in they will have an eroding effect. You'll perform far less efficiently than you are capable of acting.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even though you know better, you're going to get your fingers burned by going along with a pal's suggestions despite your own judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't ask a favor of someone if you have a hunch you'll be turned down. It will cause embarrassment for both parties.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This can be a successful day, provided you don't depend on another to do something for you that you should do for yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You are a bit too sensitive with people you like. This could lead you to believe you're being treated unjustly.

Oct. 17, 1974

Much progress can be made this year and important goals can be attained if you don't mix business with pleasure at the wrong times. Be serious when gravity is called for.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

ONE THING: (Q) I am 16. When I go anywhere or do anything with guys they just seem to think about sex, sex, sex. Can you help me find an answer to my problem?—Clawed in California

(A.) Yours is a frequent complaint of girls your age. Boys, however, tell me a different story. They say that often you girls lead them on by your behavior and by wearing short and revealing dresses.

If I have described you, please don't protest that you are innocent of contributing to the boys' urgency.

Dress sensibly, act sensibly, and keep looking. There are plenty of nice boys around.

PHONE RUSH: (Q.) My mother "lets" boys call me on the telephone, but everytime I get a call she hollers at me to get off the phone before I can hardly say "Hello."

All my friends have almost stopped calling me. They think I don't want to be bothered. Sometimes I am so lonely I could cry. Please help me.—Ms. Lonely in Alabama.

(A.) Discuss with your mother what she is doing. But do it at a time when things are quiet and you are NOT on the phone. She may not realize that her actions, though well-meaning no doubt, are inconsiderate and impolite.

Agree, if she wishes, on a specific time limit, and then police yourself. If she says no calls longer than five minutes, hold them to that. A few minutes is enough for most calls, anyway. You can explain to your friends about your mother's rule and if they are real friends they will understand.

Bridge Only Seventh Son Will Make It

going to win a spade, lead the eight of diamonds and let it ride.

If East wins with his king you will wind up making at least 10 tricks. If East ducks as he should, you will lead your last diamond. At this point it is up to West to make the obligatory falsecard of the jack of diamonds. If you are the seventh son of a seventh son, you will play dummy's ace. If you are an ordinary bridge player, you will play the queen and dummy's nice diamond suit will have disappeared into limbo.

There are two good reasons for opening the South hand one club rather than one notrump. One is that with 18 high-card points and a five-card suit headed by A-10-9 and five quick tricks, this 18 point hand is too strong. The other is that you should try to avoid notrump openings with a worthless doubleton.

The reason to open it one notrump is that if you do open one club and partner responds one heart or one spade you won't know what to rebid.

In any event it doesn't matter this time what you open. You should wind up playing three notrump and get a jack of spades lead.

It doesn't make much difference whether you grab the first spade or duck it. You are

INJURED STUDENT REMOVED—One of the injured white students is removed by stretcher from Hyde Park High School in Boston after classes were disrupted when black and white students started fighting in the hallways. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

500 Guardsmen on the Alert As Boston Problems Continue

BOSTON (UPI) — Gov. Frank Tivnan, White's press secretary, said the action was not a show of force and would be deployed only and instead requested at least three National Guard military police companies in case of white fighting today over court-ordered busing, but an aide to Mayor Kevin White said the call-up "has all the earmarks of disaster."

Sargent placed 500 guardsmen on alert Tuesday and called on President Ford to send federal troops to ensure public safety after classroom violence at Hyde Park High School, where eight whites were injured — including one student stabbed in the stomach and a teacher attacked.

Ford, however, denied the request, saying federal troops "should only be used as a last resort."

Sargent, in announcing Ford's denial late Tuesday, said "It is now quite clear that the enforcement of the law and the protection of the public rests solely on the city of Boston and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

The governor said he called up the riot-trained Guard units based on FBI reports "that we have an extremely volatile situation that could blow up at any moment."

The move, however, left Mayor White and Police Commissioner Robert J. diGrazia surprised and angered.

"The mayor did not request the governor's action," said

Simon, Brezhnev Conclude Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon flew home today, ending a five-day Russian visit marked by a stinging Soviet attack against congressional attempts to link trade and emigration.

Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev said Tuesday night billions of dollars in Russian-American trade could be jeopardized by the "utterly irrelevant and unacceptable" congressional campaign.

In comments to newsmen before his plane left for Washington, Simon said he agreed with Brezhnev's bid to get most-favored-nation (MFN) trade status for the Soviet Union. He said his talks with the Soviet leader were friendly.

"We did not find it surprising," he said of Brezhnev's speech. "We share his desire to get resolutions of MFN and trade."

The general secretary of the Soviet Communist party spoke at a dinner honoring Simon, who was visiting Moscow with leading American businessmen for a meeting of the U.S.-Soviet Trade and Economic Council.

"Attempts to condition the development of trade and economic ties by putting demands to the Soviet Union on questions totally unconnected with the trade and economic field and lying fully within the domestic competence of states are utterly irrelevant and unacceptable," he said.

Brezhnev called for "timely negative factors" before the "further development of cooperation may be seriously arrested."

It was his strongest denunciation yet of the congressional drive, led by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., to deny trade benefits to the Soviet Union until Moscow relaxes emigration curbs, especially for Jews.

The emigration issue is blocking congressional approval of a bill to grant nondiscriminatory trade status to the Soviet Union. A trade pact signed two years ago promised the Soviets most-favored-nation status.

Brezhnev said "it is high time that there should be a clear understanding that such attempts at interference in the internal affairs do nothing but harm, including the trade and economic relations between our countries."

He said Soviet-American relations could not be determined by the "selfish designs of certain individuals or narrow political groups whose mental-

Fahmy Convinces Soviet Leader

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Ismail Fahmy, the straight-talking foreign minister who engineered Egypt's friendship with the United States at the expense of its ties with Russia, has now convinced Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev to visit Cairo.

The Soviet Union announced Tuesday that Brezhnev will make his first visit to Cairo in January for meetings with President Anwar Sadat. Brezhnev agreed to the summit after long talks with Fahmy and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The invitation indicated that Sadat is apparently becoming unhappy with the scarcity of concrete results from his year-old opening to the United States.

Fahmy was accompanied to Moscow by chief of staff Lt. Gen. Abdel Ghany Gamasy and War Production Minister Ahmed Kamal. Their presence indicates Sadat hopes to restore the flow of Soviet arms, including the modern missiles and planes that have been supplied to Syria and other Arab states.

A popular figure both in Washington and in Moscow, Fahmy made Egypt's new search for a balance between the superpowers clear when he met with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Sunday and the next morning flew off for Moscow.

Fahmy was named foreign minister soon after the October 1973 war while in Washington making the first overtures to President Nixon and Kissinger for a more active U.S. role in settling the crisis between Israel and the Arabs.

The romance he helped engineer reached a peak last June when millions of Egyptians greeted Nixon in Cairo and the American leader promised Egypt nonmilitary nuclear and economic aid.

Two months earlier, Sadat had lashed out at the Soviets for not supplying him sufficient arms and declared he would search elsewhere for military supplies.

Egyptian military chiefs reportedly became unhappy as the Israeli and Syrian arsenals were replenished while American diplomacy made little headway in the Middle East.
